

THIS best thing in Secretary Kellogg's speech to the Associated Press, in New York, was a single sentence: "This government cannot conduct its foreign policies with negatives."

The reference was to the Turkish treaty, which some senators are opposing because it does not sufficiently safeguard the rights of Christian minorities in Turkey, though they are themselves proposing no plan for the protection of those minorities and would doubtless also vote against any such plan if it were proposed. But the application is also general, and goes to the core of the whole senatorial foreign policy.

WHEN there is an international situation to be met, it has always been a maxim of experienced diplomacy to do something positive to meet it. Otherwise it is sure, later, to meet you, with the advantage all against you. The Senate, on the contrary, has followed the course of refusing to meet it at all, unless the proposed way of meeting it was one hundred per cent satisfactory to all the prejudices of all the senators, plus the still more numerous prejudices which they attributed to their constituents. And of course there never has been and never will be such a proposal, to any nation, on a matter on which the agreement of another nation is also necessary. Both sides always have to concede something, and neither is ever completely satisfied. The Senate therefore rejects everything and proposes nothing in its place. Which is simply a confession of temperamental incapacity to deal with foreign relations.

ELIHU ROOT is one of the ablest lawyers in the United States. Therefore, when the wets in New York employed him to formulate the legal terms of their proposed illegal state referendum, a certain presumption might be assumed that at least the language of it would be legally sound. But, unfortunately for the wets, the great lawyer's prestige, no such presumption lies in the legal soundness of Mr. Root's advice on this particular question. He has, on it, a record exactly one hundred per cent wrong. He was the leading attorney for the wets in their great test cases before the supreme court.

IT IS therefore not unduly presumptuous, with the already-declared backing of the supreme court, to attempt to point out the fallacy of Mr. Root's referendum. It is, in the first place, doubtful if the legislature of New York, under the state constitution, has the right to submit any referendum, or any sort. The New York court of appeals will in due time decide that. It is also conceded that even if the referendum could legally be held, and if it carried, it would be of no legal effect.

BUT, passing over these two state difficulties, the proposed referendum, merely as advice to Congress, professes to advise Congress to do a thing which Congress will not do. It proposes that Congress, by statute, shall confer on the states an authority which the constitution has taken away from them.

THIS is the language of the proposed advisory referendum: "Should Congress of the United States modify the federal act to enforce the eighteenth amendment so that the same shall not prohibit the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation or exportation of beverages which are not in fact intoxicating, as determined in accordance with the laws of the respective states?"

THE crux of the proposal is in the last clause. Without this it would raise serious questions of policy, but perhaps none of law. But the last clause proposes to confer on the states, by act of Congress, the power arbitrarily to declare what beverages are or are not intoxicating. The constitution of the United States has already declared that the constitution "of its own force invalidates" any act, whether by Congress or by the state legislatures, contravening this prohibition. Congress can neither exercise this power itself, nor empower the states to do so. Nothing but a change in the constitution could confer upon the states a power which the constitution itself, by their consent, has denied them. And changing the constitution can not be done by act of Congress.

THE figures of course bear out the President's statements. But his analysis does not go to the root of the evil. Citizens of other countries do not neglect to vote. The enfranchisement of women in Germany did not decrease the proportion of voters who voted. Surely we are not ready to confess that the reason we have the worst record in the world in this respect is that we have the worst citizens in the world. And if bad citizenship is not the

FRENCH DEBT TO U. S. SETTLED

Mrs. Kahn Pleads for Reapportionment

MAIDEN TALK IS DELIVERED IN CONGRESS

Woman Member from California Flays Colleagues Who Oppose New Lineup GREETED BY PLAUDITS

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—Congress has been derelict in its duty by failing to enact reapportionment legislation in accordance with the 1920 census, Mrs. Florence Kahn, Republican, California, charged in her maiden speech in the house today.

Making no provision for a new apportionment of representatives in the house during the six years which have elapsed since the last census, Mrs. Kahn said, congress "had failed to obey the specific duty placed upon it by the constitution."

Gets Great Ovation Attired in a simple black dress, Mrs. Kahn was given a tremendous ovation by the house, both before and after she spoke. Members on both sides arose and applauded when she was recognized and repeated the same demonstration when she concluded. At the conclusion, she was warmly congratulated by her two women colleagues—Mrs. Rogers, Republican, Massachusetts and Mrs. Norton, Democrat, New Jersey—and a score of other members.

Mrs. Kahn gave solemn warning that the shelving of reapportionment bills by the census committee may result in the next presidential election being thrown into the courts.

"The electoral college, following the next presidential election," she said, "will be based upon a census made 18 years before. In case of a close election, this might be a very serious matter and might possibly be carried to court to decide the validity of the election. I elect a candidate who, under a different apportionment, would have been defeated. This is neither impossible nor improbable."

Is Constitutional Mandate "Why then should not a reapportionment have been passed? The question is neither political nor sectional—Republican and Democratic states gain, the northern and southern states lose. It is a constitutional mandate—obligatory and binding—and it is our duty, as I see it, to obey this mandate."

Mrs. Kahn traced the history of census from the first taken by Moses, set forth in the Book of Numbers, down to the present time. She recalled that George Washington vetoed the first apportionment bill and was sustained by congress, because it violated a provision of the constitution which stated that the number of representatives shall not exceed one for every 30,000 people.

BUTCHER KILLS BARBER RIVAL WITH CLEAVER

BAKERSFIELD, April 29.—A posse of citizens and deputies conducted a search in the hills near here today for Al Swindle, wanted for the killing in a knife duel of Frederick Miller.

Miller, known hereabouts as "Dick, the barber," was knifed to death in an altercation with Swindle, a butcher, over the latter's wife, according to officers. The barber came here recently from Binghamton, N. Y.

The killing occurred in the village of Fellows, where Miller was employed in the same barber shop in Union hall where Mrs. Swindle worked. The latter, it was said, had been having trouble with her husband and had become friendly with the barber.

When Miller left his shop last night, he was met by Swindle, a cleaver in his hand. A fight followed, Miller using his jack knife and his fists, and the butcher slashing with his cleaver.

Bystanders intervened, and Swindle fled. Miller died from severed jugular vein. The body was taken to Taft, and the barber's parents in Binghamton were notified.

CHICAGO TO CLEAN UP ON UNDERWORLD

City Stirred by Killings Of 92 Persons by Gangsters in Outlawry Reign 100 SUSPECTS QUIZZED

CHICAGO, April 29.—State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, who is vigorously pushing the investigation into the machine-gun rule of the Chicago beer gangs, today was warned by an anonymous letter that he would be the next victim of the gangster guns.

"You will be the next one to go because we're going to get your scalp," the letter warned. It was written April 28 and was mailed from a Chicago post office district. It was turned over to postal authorities for investigation.

(By United Press) CHICAGO, April 29.—Society cognizant that the beer war, which has taken 92 lives in six years, is endangering law and order in Chicago, today started a probe of conditions which permit an assassin to prosper.

The injection of society into the beer strife came at the convening of a coroner's jury, which is attempting to find the machine-gun assassins who killed Assistant State's Attorney William McSwiggin and two beer runners, Jimmy Doherty and Tom Duffy, Tuesday night.

The coroner's jury is composed of two bankers, a broker, a manufacturer, a realtor and a building manager. Jury of Courageous Men

Coroner Oscar Wolff today said the jury which will probe the killing is one of the "most intelligent, courageous and impartial" ever selected. As a special questioner, the coroner's office retained John J. Healy, former state's attorney. "We will go into every phase of this unscrupulous killing," Wolff said. "Everything in this queer beer running trade will be brought to light."

No Jamaica Ginger; Kills Self

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—Lacking funds to buy Jamaica ginger, his favorite drink, Joseph Down, 51, slashed his throat and wrists with a razor at the Los Angeles county farm today, according to a sheriff's report. Before dying, Down told hospital attendants he had lost his friends and money, and was unable to procure any Jamaica ginger, a drink to which he was addicted. "There was nothing to do but end it all," he said.

DAREDEVIL WHO PLUNGED OVER NIAGARA DIES

(By United Press) CHRISTCHURCH, N. Z., April 29. Bobby Leach, who once plunged over Niagara falls in a barrel, died today, following an amputation of his leg, which he broke when he slipped on an orange peel lying in the street.

DAREDEVIL CAREER STARTS 30 YEARS AGO Hudson, Mass., April 29.—Bobby Leach, who died at Christchurch, N. Z., today, began here more than 30 years ago the daredevil career which later took him safely over Niagara falls in a barrel.

He came here as a young man and introduced this town to the popular lunch cart. For years he continued business as a restaurateur. One day he and several other young men were sitting in the lobby of the Mansion house here. They were discussing a recent balloon ascension and one remarked that it took a lot of nerve to participate in such a feat.

COOLIDGE TO SIGN PENSION MEASURE

WASHINGTON, April 29.—If President Coolidge signs the bill increasing Spanish war pensions, which now seems probable, some other piece of appropriation legislation must suffer in return.

The President held out against approving this bill, claiming the idea was far beyond his idea of any increase and that the treasury could not stand the proposed increase in this class of pensions, which would amount to $18,000,000 a year, instead of the present $13,000,000.

TRAFFIC RESUMED After Washouts

BAKERSFIELD, April 29.—Traffic in the desert regions of Kern county was restored to normal today, after 24 hours' interruption by storms and washouts.

POLICE HUNT FOR MISSING INVENTOR

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—Los Angeles police were asked today to aid in a search for William M. Land, 40, general manager of an oil tool concern in Long Beach.

MAN KILLED, GIRL HURT IN AUTO CRASH

VERNON H. BERRY DIES on Highway and Irene Carmichael Is in Hospital ONE ESCAPES INJURY

Traveling at Fast Rate, Machine Hits Another on Anaheim-Fullerton Road

Driving at Fast Rate The accident occurred when Berry is alleged to have driven at a high rate of speed, directly into the rear of a machine driven by William Forbes, proprietor of the Mission hotel, San Juan Capistrano. Both Forbes and Berry were driving south along the highway at the time of the accident, according to a report filed by the Fullerton police.

Both cars were overturned. Berry's head crushed, was pinned underneath his car. No one in the Forbes machine was injured, it was said. The direct cause of Berry's death was said to have been a fractured skull. Inquest will be held at 4 p. m. tomorrow, at the Seale funeral parlors, Fullerton. Coroner Charles D. Brown announced today. According to a statement made today by Miss Carmichael, she and Berry and Archer were returning to Anaheim, after visiting at the home of Edna and Ethel McCoy, 423 East Amerige street, Fullerton. She said that she did not see the car which they struck.

75 Miles Per Hour? According to a Fullerton police report, Berry was driving at a rate of speed that prevented him from avoiding the accident when he is thought to have seen the Forbes machine in front of him. When taken to the hospital soon after the accident, Miss Carmichael is alleged to have told hospital attendants that "we were going 75 miles an hour."

WILKINS READY FOR RETURN FLIGHT

DETROIT, Mich., April 29.—Weather and plane equipment permitting, Capt. George H. Wilkins, leader of the Detroit Arctic expedition, planned to leave Point Barrow, Alaska, for a return flight to Fairbanks today, according to a special report to expedition leaders from Maj. Thomas C. Lanphier, unofficial army observer at Fairbanks. Captain Wilkins and Ben Eleison, expedition pilot, left for Point Barrow on April 15 and failed to report their position until last night, when an overland party reached Barrow and radioed back they were safe.

Major Lanphier said it was unknown at Fairbanks why Wilkins had failed to report his position, although it was assumed his radio equipment was out of order. Delay in making the return flight, Lanphier said, was understood to have been caused by engine trouble.

Officers Seek Girl Held As Hostage

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 29.—Armed deputies today prepared to penetrate the mountain fastnesses of Summers county to take by force, if necessary, a 12-year-old girl, whose mother, Mrs. Mary Norvella Burrell, asserts she is being held as hostage for a $600 debt. The little girl, Edna Smith Burrell, has been living with her mountain guardians—a mother and four sons—in a rustic mountain cabin for three years and it was not until her mother sought to recover her that she discovered the child was being held in virtual captivity.

POLAR FLYERS ARE SAFE AT POINT BARROW

(By United Press) NEW YORK, April 29.—Announcement that Capt. George H. Wilkins and Pilot Ben Eleison, of the Detroit Arctic expedition, had arrived safely at Point Barrow, Alaska, was made today by the North American Newspaper alliance. Wilkins and Eleison left Fairbanks, Alaska, on April 15, taking supplies to the northern base. They were not heard from after the first two hours of the flight and anxiety had been expressed by other members of the expedition.

ADJUSTMENTS ON MONOPLANE CONTINUED

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 29.—Adjustments on the three-motor monoplane Detroit, of the Wilkins Arctic expedition, were continued today, in hopes of soon getting the huge plane in shape for the projected polar hop.

While the members of the expedition here announced that Capt. George H. Wilkins and Pilot Ben Eleison, who took off two weeks ago today in the airplane Alaskan, had reached Point Barrow, work on the Detroit was steadily continued. Compass adjustment is making daily test flights of the Detroit necessary, while mechanics are tuning up the motors in hopes of assuring no recurrence of the engine trouble which forced the craft to return here after its take-off Monday.

TWO NEGROES ARE SENTENCED TO DIE

MADISONVILLE, Ky., April 29.—While National Guardsmen patrolled the streets today, a jury returned the third verdict in the case against three negroes, charged with assaulting pretty Nell Breitbaugh. Columbus Hollis, 50 years old, was found guilty of complicity and sentenced to 20 years in prison. The other negroes involved in the affair, Bunyan Fleming and Nathan Bard, were sentenced to die.

PARIS GIVEN 62 YEARS TO PAY AMERICA

Funding Commission and Ambassador Berenger in Accord on Obligations GETS O. K. OF COOLIDGE

Pact Signed Soon After President Places His Approval on Agreement (By United Press) WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—The American debt funding commission and Henri Berenger, French ambassador, today reached an agreement for settling France's war debt of $4,377,000,000 to the United States. The agreement calls for France to pay a total of $6,847,000,000.

The agreement covers a period of 62 years, with payments running annually from $30,000,000 to $125,000,000. Interest begins at the end of five years and is graduated from 1 per cent for the first 10 years to 3 1/4 per cent for the last 27 years. This settlement was reached after French Ambassador Berenger had acceded to the United States' demand for better terms for liquidating the obligation. The American commission, which was originally desired in order to safeguard her interests in case of financial stringency at home.

HUMORIST WILL BE BURIED ON DESERT

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—The passing of Dick Wick Hall, famous humorist and columnist, was mourned today by thousands of readers. "The Sage of Salome" died here suddenly from acute Bright's disease, at the age of 43. On Sunday, his body will be taken to Salome, in the Arizona desert, for burial. Salome is the village of 17 inhabitants, founded 22 years ago by Dick Wick Hall, and publicized to millions by his writings. The body will be laid to rest in a patch of garden, near the garage, a spot selected by Dick before he died. A preacher will be imported from Phoenix to deliver the eulogy, there being no ministers in Salome. The garden spot where he is to be buried, is all that remains of Dick's dream of an empire in the desert. He and his brother went there in 1904 to start an irrigation project, but, as Dick often wrote, "I never even developed enough water for my frog to swim in."

INDEPENDENCE CAN SPOIL MARRIAGE, DECLARES NINA

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 29.—Too much independence can spoil a marriage, Nina Wilcox Putnam, the authoress, admitted when she was granted a final divorce decree from Robert J. Sanderson, in circuit court here. Miss Putnam and Sanderson, at the outset of their marriage, which took place in November, 1919, were resolved not to lose their individuality and to spend only a small part of the time with each other.

They separated and the authoress applied for and received a divorce in Providence, R. I., which later was declared illegal because of failure to meet residence requirements. Then she came here and brought suit again on grounds of desertion.

CUBA TO CURTAIL SUGAR PRODUCTION

HAVANA, April 28.—The drastic bill to limit the production of Cuban sugar was passed by the senate last night and was to go to President Machado today.

The senate approved the measure, 14 to 6. Planters in only two provinces of Cuba are actively opposing the bill.

When President Machado signs the bill, Cuban planters hereafter will be limited to producing only 90 per cent of the estimated sugar crop for this year.

Steps Taken to Curb Japanese Pearl Fishers

MANILA, P. I., April 28.—Steps to suppress the activities of Japanese pearl fishers around Mindanao and Jolo, who are operating without licenses, will shortly be taken by the Philippine government. Information brought to the attention of officials here indicates that the pearl industry in certain areas around the southern islands is almost entirely in the hands of Japanese.

The governors of Zamboanga, Jolo and Panay co-operated in an attempt to arrest some of the fishermen, but were unable to prove they were obtaining pearls. The provincial officials appealed to the bureau of non-Christian tribes and the latter obtained the co-operation of a revival of pearl fishing among the Moros of their provinces.

The first result has been announced in the organization of a Moro pearl fishing association, which will move to drive Japanese out of business. The Moros have done little fishing in recent years, but reports of enormous profits accumulated by the Japanese have aroused interest in coast villages where pearling was one time a flourishing industry.

Conductor and Bride, 13, Nabbed

LOS ANGELES, April 28.—Helen Bollman, 13-year-old school girl, and U. P. Palmer, 28, street car conductor, were arrested today, on their return from Ventura, where they were married, following a speedy courtship and elopement.

The conductor was taken into custody when he reported for work this morning, on complaint of the girl's father. The girl was arrested at the home of a friend.

Palmer was jailed on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and the girl wife was taken to juvenile hall.

CHILDREN SCORN MOTHER WHOSE HAIR IS BOBBED

Mrs. Helen Benedict and two of the children who do not want her. Edith, 12, is above and Helen, 13, is below.

Shorn Locks Are Against Scriptural Teaching, Girls Assert

KANSAS CITY, April 28.—Mrs. Helen Benedict, like millions of other American women, has had her hair bobbed.

But because she did so, she faces the loss of her six children.

These children, the oldest of whom is only 13, coolly informed her that bobbed hair goes against Scripture. Hence they do not want to live with her. They want to stay in an orphanage.

Mrs. Benedict recently was deserted by her husband. So she put the children temporarily in a Menonite home, with a police matron as guardian, while she went to work to earn some money and establish a home for her brood.

After many hardships she obtained employment as a housekeeper, with the permission to use three rooms of the big house for which she cares as a home for her own family.

Seeks Return of Children Jubilant, she went to the Menonite home to arrange for the children to join her.

But the children, instead of embracing her, looked at her with dismay and backed away.

"What is the matter?" she asked. The children explained that she was violating Scriptural teachings by wearing her hair cut short. Further, they objected to her jaunty red hat. Officials of the Menonite home backed them up.

Mrs. Benedict hired an attorney and went to court.

The judge asked the children whether they could be happy with their mother. The two older girls—Helen, 13, and Edith, 12—acted as spokesmen for the little group and said they could not.

"Why not?" asked the judge.

"She wears jewelry, has bright colored clothes and does not go to church," said one of the girls.

"And her hair is bobbed," said the other.

"Well, what of it?" asked the judge.

Then Helen quoted the 15th verse of the 11th chapter of First Corinthians:

"But if a woman have long hair it is a glory to her; for her hair is given her for a covering."

"That means she mustn't bob her hair," added Edith.

The court questioned the children further. They recited from memory the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments, the Twenty-third Psalm and other parts of the Bible.

Puzzled, the judge reserved decision. The children are remaining at the Menonite home until he rules on the case.

At this home they are being thoroughly drilled in many Biblical texts. But apparently the authorities have forgotten to teach them the one that reads:

"Honor thy father and thy mother."

Noted Physician Taken by Death

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—Dr. A. F. Schafer, who rose from an unknown California county practitioner to a figure of authority and respect through the whole medical world, died early today in Stanford hospital.

Cancer, which he contracted when he came to San Francisco to pursue his researches, caused his death.

Discovery of serums for the prevention and treatment of pneumonia and blood poisoning brought world-wide renown to Dr. Schafer. His first serum was introduced to the medical world 16 years ago.

Lives Are Lost In Volga Floods

MOSCOW, April 28.—Many houses are reported to have been destroyed and several persons drowned today in Rybinsk by Volga river flood waters. The flood was the worst in the history of this city, which is one of the most important interior ports of the Soviet Union. Floods of unusual violence also were reported along the upper Volga and its tributaries. Train service on the Moscow-Kazan railway has been interrupted by destruction of bridges.

Two More Murders

While the detail of 500 officers was working on the beer slayings, other smaller details were investigating two murders that happened last night.

In one, Frank Blazek, patrolman, was beaten and killed by a negro, who escaped.

Early today, police discovered the other murder when they found the body of an Italian on the south side. He had been stabbed to death in a robbery.

Convict ex-Solon On Liquor Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—Twice tried and twice convicted on a liquor charge, Eddie Marron, former state assemblyman, today awaited the court's decision on his notice of appeal, designed to bring a third trial on the same charge. Marron yesterday, in his retrial in federal court, was found guilty and sentenced to two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine. His attorney, Hugh L. Smith, immediately asked for a new trial. This denied, he filed notice of appeal.

Williams Papers Reach Washington

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Papers in the court-martial trial of Col. Alexander Williams, accused by Gen. Smedley D. Butler of drunkenness in San Diego, reached the navy department today. They will be passed on by the judge advocate general and then submitted to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur for final action. Colonel Williams was found guilty by the San Diego court-martial.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT
If you are sensitive to harmony you are equally aware of discord. If you appreciate the beautiful, you will as quickly sense the ugly. If you are capable of great love, you are keenly sensitive to the pangs of sorrow. That explains why your heart aches so in the face of your grief. But your love endures and will know its complete fulfillment when your joy cometh with the reunion in Paradise.

MERRITT—In Santa Ana, April 28, 1926, W. E. Merritt, aged 45 years, brother of Mrs. W. A. Osgood of Newport Beach. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. from Smith and Tutthill's chapel.

The WELL DRESSED MAN
By BEAUNASH
Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

THEY TOE THE MARK
The foot of my Ladye Fayre is something for poets to rhapsodize about. Man's foot—well, James Russell Lowell hit off its incorrigible awkwardness when he wrote of the bashful suitor in "Bigelow Papers": "He stood a spell on one foot, then stood a spell on 't'other, an' on which he felt the wust he couldn't ha' told ye nuther." The fabled banquet hall of Nebuchadnezzar was not vaster than the array of colorful hosery from which a man may choose this season to match not only his suit, shirt or scarf, but his very mood in the morning. There are so many styles, that such a thing as style hardly prevails. Thus, one cannot "gang aglee," as the Scotch quaintly put it. Years ago a sock with a sock, and that was the beginning and end of it. Now, socks come in as many colors and combinations as cravats and handkerchiefs and, often, to harmonize with them.

To be sure, what has given a brisk fillip to variety in men's hosery is the universal vogue of the Oxford shoe. Hide-bound custom has given way to unbound ankles. Indeed, it is almost certain that the boot (high shoe) will never again regain its old-time standing among either men or women. Man wants to be comfortable. Woman is well persuaded that a well-turned ankle should not hide its light under a bushel of leather.

Both the horizontal and the perpendicular schools of design are reproduced here. The brilliant colors, of course, cannot be. Such hosery should be selected in colors to match one's scarf, shirt and handkerchief rather than one's suit. Lisle, silk, wool, silk-and-wool and silk-and-cotton are variously worn. Lisle, as has often been said, is more absorbent than silk, which is prone to be slippery and clammy, especially if one's feet perspire, a subject which may not be agreeable to mention, but is necessary to refer to.

Wool or wool mixtures are for those who demand warmth and dryness and do not mind occasional irritation. So much personal comfort depends upon hosery that it should be selected with great care. Socks of so-called Sea Island cotton are yet favorites among some wearers who will not allow themselves to be weaned away. Derby-ribbed socks fit the ankles more snugly. Black wool socks have been introduced for evening wear, in place of silk or lisle, for "dancing men" who like the touch of wool at all times and its protection against dampness.

VANDERBILT IS FACING RUIN IN 3 NEWSPAPERS

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, April 29.—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., has set as his immediate ambition the successful operation of three newspapers. If he can obtain $300,000, he believes that, within six months, his business will be put on a paying basis. Otherwise he may face ruin.

Success, if it comes to the 23-year-old son of one of the country's best known families, will be doubly sweet because his father, Brig. Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, has refused to advance any more money. More than $1,000,000 already has been put into the newspaper enterprise by the Vanderbilt family, but no more will be forthcoming.

"My father is opposed to all newspapers," young Vanderbilt said, when he and his counsel, Dudley Field Malone, explained the situation. "I think he would be happy if I failed, or was forced to get into some other profession."

But young Cornelius has no intention of failing. He stands ready to pledge his fixed patrimony of $1,500,000 if necessary to save the business he has built up in less than three years.

Negotiations are going on here and in other cities to obtain the needed $300,000.

Vanderbilt announced his financial status, he said, to let the 5000 stockholders in his corporation, the Vanderbilt Newspapers, Inc., know the situation.

Vanderbilt laid his difficulties to mismanagement on the part of subordinates, to whom was entrusted the business side of the enterprise.

Pope Refuses to See U. S. Artists

ROME, April 29.—A News Agency dispatch circulated today said Pope Pius had refused to receive "two noted American artists" in audience today. The allusion may be to Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, who have arrived in Rome, enroute around the world. It is understood that the pope refused to see the artists on the grounds that both artists had been divorced. The pope makes it a rule not to receive divorced persons.

Cigaret Starts Blaze In Awning

Fire, starting after a lighted cigarette had been tossed on an awning over the entrance of the Spencer Collins Men's store, in the Rossmore building, at 11:55 p. m., yesterday, sent firemen from central station rushing to the building. One of the plate glass windows in the store was broken. The damage is estimated at approximately $200.

reason, exhortation to good citizenship is not the whole remedy.

WHEN people are interested, they vote. If you make them vote when not interested, those votes contribute nothing to the result, and may as well not be counted.

People in other countries vote because they are interested. And they are interested because they are called to vote only on the offices which do decide something. They have the short ballot and elections called by the issues. We have the long ballot and elections called by the calendar. Even the national part of our ballot, which is short, is confused by being mingled in the long state and local ballot, and both are confused by being on an arbitrarily predetermined date, with the conspiracy of politics to steer issues away from that date.

The system has outgrown all human limits, of mind and of interest. Nobody can vote our huge ballot intelligently, and most of it concerns offices on which nobody would have reason to care, even if he had the means of knowing. The system was illogical enough under the simpler conditions of life under which it grew up, but it was at least workable. Now it is neither defensible in principle nor feasible in practice. Until we bring our ballot within human comprehension and make our elections decide something, voluntary abstention from unintelligent and meaningless voting will increase.

TIME FOR FILING OF CLAIMS FIXED

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Attorney General Sargent announced today that claims for damage or loss caused from seizure, detention or interference with voyages of vessels in the Bering sea, during the 10-year period ended in 1896, may be filed up to June 7, 1926.

Ninety-nine suits against the government for nearly $2,000,000 for damages for sealing losses, arising out of the interference of the government in seal hunting from 1856 to 1896, are now pending in federal courts.

Nine new suits were recently filed in the U. S. district court for northern California for claims of $350,000 against the government. Sargent said.

Out of 119 suits filed, sealers have won 20 cases for judgments of $608,115. No appeals have been filed against the judgments, Sargent said.

LABOR CHIEF SEES INDUSTRIAL PEACE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 29.—What he considers the way to industrial peace and the dream of labor for a high standard of living was painted today by President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor at the Founder's day celebration of Carnegie institute here.

It may be too much to expect that all industrial dispute may be eliminated, Green said.

"But in this enlightened age, we are justified in entertaining the hope that because of a high sense of appreciation of the public interest and because of fair dealing between employers and employees, industrial disturbances may be reduced to a minimum," he said.

MAN IS CONVICTED OF DOUBLE MURDER

PIKEVILLE, Ky., April 29.—A jury here today convicted William H. Turner, former mine superintendent, of a double murder and an $89,000 insurance swindle and sentenced him to life imprisonment. The sentence was affirmed by the court.

The verdict was brought in as the state began the selection of a jury to try Turner's alleged co-conspirators, Joe Jack sr., his father-in-law, and Joe Jack jr., who were characterized as "ring leaders" of the plot. The Turner jury was locked up at 10 o'clock last night. Deliberations were resumed at 8 a. m. today. The state had demanded the death penalty.

FRENCHMAN WILL BE DEPORTED TO CHINA

SPOKANE, Wn., April 29.—George Ferdinand Louis Andrew Gatteau will get a chance to go to China, as he wishes, instead of being deported to his native France. The dapper young Frenchman, who claims his grandfather is ex-Premier Clemenceau, of France, is being held for U. S. immigration authorities, who were expected to arrive here today to conduct him back to Seattle.

On his claim of relationship with the "Tiger of France," Gatteau climbed in social circles in Seattle. Although the great French statesman has refused to recognize the wanderer as his descendant, Seattle friends nevertheless still were loyal and agreed to advance the money to send Gatteau to Shanghai.

Gatteau was put on a train for the East with more than a score of other deportees here yesterday. After immigration authorities obtained permission from Washington to let Gatteau go to the Orient instead of deporting him to his native land, he was taken from the train here last night.

WILL FORCE VOTE ON FARM RELIEF

WASHINGTON, April 29.—A vote will be forced in congress on the corn belt's own farm relief bill, it was disclosed today when the skillful maneuvering of the farm bloc came to light.

It was discovered that the all-important $250,000,000 surplus disposal measure, drawn by the Iowa Committee of 22, had been tacked to the inoffensive administration's co-operative marketing measure as an amendment by the senate agriculture committee.

This gives the farm bloc members a parliamentary advantage which has made them jubilant over prospects of early action. The measure now is pending upon the senate calendar and Chairman Wadsworth, of the senate steering committee, told the United Press that he would call a meeting of his committee probably today, to give farm relief preference after four measures now on the program.

SUGGEST MOVE TO AID IN DAM BILL PASSAGE

Following a suggestion to the board of directors of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce by W. C. May, the board today made recommendation that every resident of Orange county having personal acquaintance with a member of congress write or telegraph at once, urging immediate action of the Boulder dam bill.

May pointed out the necessity of getting the bill through congress during the present term and stressed the possibility of another long delay in final adoption should the measure not be approved by the present congress. Possible changes in the personnel of congress, he thought, would create a situation where the battle for the dam would have to be waged again.

Col. S. H. Finley, secretary of the Boulder dam association, added his voice to the suggestion that letters and telegrams be written by Orange county residents today or tomorrow.

The bill now is before the house committee on irrigation and reclamation after being reported out of the senate committee. Congressman Phil Swing yesterday attempted to get the measure through the house committee, but failed because of the desire on the part of a member to hear further discussion. It was indicated that a hearing would be held Saturday. Swing hopes to get the measure out of committee on Monday.

Finley said that if favorable action by the committee was taken, it would be something of a victory, even if congress did not give approval at this session.

W. H. Spurgeon reported to the directors that the committee in charge virtually had completed arrangements for a feature display at the California Valencia show, in Anaheim, and that most of the finances to meet the cost had been raised.

Samuel Chinn, president of the Chinn and Busby Manufacturing company, was a visitor at the meeting and, in brief discussion, presented some criticisms of activities of the chamber. He pointed to a number of things, which, in his opinion, would make the organization more effective.

ANNUAL CEMETERY CLEANUP STARTED

The annual cleanup of the old section of the Santa Ana cemetery was in progress today, it was announced by W. Verne Whitson, chairman of the cemetery committee of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

Whitson has been head of the committee for many years and has been active in plans for cleaning weeds from the neglected section just prior to Decoration day.

The chain gang now is engaged in hoeing the weeds in the streets and weeds growing on the lots. Pointing out that the gang would not have time to rake the weeds, Whitson urged that lot owners rake and clear the cut weeds from lots.

The cemetery district, recently created by the board of supervisors, to provide funds for taking care of the burial grounds, has not been completely organized and funds, which must be derived from taxation, will not be available until next year, Whitson said.

FILM PRODUCER TO SERVE TERM FOR SPEEDING

Charged with speeding 50 miles an hour over the San Diego highway, last Sunday, E. C. Baker, Hollywood picture producer, has pleaded guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court and will serve five days in the Orange county jail, according to a statement made today by Morrison.

Baker was arrested after two shots had been fired by the arresting officer, it was said. He had paid no attention to the officer's siren, it is claimed. Officer Henry Meehan made the arrest.

Baker told Justice Morrison that his company was to produce a picture, the scenes for which would be taken in Laguna Beach. Work will start within the next 10 days and, because of this, Baker asked for a stay of sentence. He was told to report in the jail on May 27.

"Kazan" will be the name of the picture to be filmed in Laguna Beach, it was said.

Alfred K. Loerch, Los Angeles, formerly of Santa Ana, is scheduled to appear in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court tomorrow to answer to a charge of speeding 32 miles an hour on the state highway on the Newport road. He was arrested March 20, by Officer Frank Vaughn.

R. A. Conley, 50, 1547 Sixth street, Santa Monica, who was arrested by Jesse Elliott March 20 and charged with speeding 50 miles an hour, will have a good excuse for his speed when he appears Saturday before Justice Kenneth Morrison, it was learned today. Morrison said that he expected the man to testify that he had received word that a brother in the east had been fatally injured in an automobile accident and that he was rushing to the home of another brother at the time he was stopped for speeding.

been spending the past four weeks with relatives in the Imperial valley, returned Monday to the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Otto S. Russell, 1013 Spurgeon street.

NATIVE SONS OF SAN PEDRO PUT ON DEGREE

Members of Sepulveda parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, San Pedro, were here last night and put on the initiatory work for Santa Ana parlor, No. 265, three new members going through the impressive services. The work by the visitors was well done and the courtesy of the San Pedro men was highly appreciated.

Owing to the fact that 39 applicants for charter membership have not as yet been able to take the initiation, the parlor voted last night to keep the charter open until June 1. The membership now numbers 80.

Plans were made for another initiation meeting, to be held May 26, when Ramona parlor, Los Angeles, the largest lodge in the state, will put on the work. A. V. Mayrhofer, deputy state president, was authorized to invite the Ramona parlor here.

The San Pedro visitors were headed by William Reuter, president. Candidates initiated were Don Jerome, Leo Young, James Shea and Winfrey Golden.

A. M. Stanley and Horace Fina, as members of the good of the order committee, served refreshments to the group at the conclusion of the meeting.

The parlor hereafter will meet regularly on the second and fourth Wednesday nights in the Knights of Pythias hall, 306 1-2 East Fourth street. Past President J. M. Backs having been authorized to negotiate a lease for the hall.

Golden Wedding Day Is Celebrated at Alliance Meeting

NOT ONLY DID members of the Unitarian Woman's Alliance have the pleasure of hearing their national president, Mrs. Oscar Gallagher of Brooklyn, Mass., at their meeting Tuesday afternoon, but they also had the privilege of participating in a golden wedding celebration honoring Mr. and Mrs. John Adams.

Mrs. Gallagher who is making an extended tour of the western states, proved to be a most interesting speaker, blessed with a vibrant personality that won every individual member of her large audience. Her talk was a most enlightening one on the work being accomplished generally by the Alliance.

She was very happy to have the opportunity of joining in the golden wedding celebration as were the dozen or more enthusiastic Los Angeles Alliance workers who accompanied her. Their presence gave an added charm and enjoyment to the affair, whose surprise feature was revealed when Mrs. C. H. Stanley read a poem which had been written for her own golden wedding day by a friend who loved her. The verses were quite as appropriate for Mrs. Adams' anniversary and as fully enjoyed.

Mrs. Harwood Sharp gave a pleasant personal touch by reading a clever little alphabetical rhyme of golden weddings, written by her in honor of the occasion. Ere the guest group was bidden to the social rooms for refreshments, the beautiful wedding cake was presented to the bride of a half century ago, together with a pretty silver knife tied with gold ribbon, that she might make a formal ceremony of cutting the cake.

In the social room all were greeted by the hostess group responsible for the happy affair. Mrs. Henry C. Akin, Mrs. Ferdinand Heimerdinger, Mrs. Cunningham and Mrs. Sharp. A tea table with lovely linens and dainty appointments, made still more charming with quantities of golden poppies, was presided over by Mrs. Akin who poured tea to be served with home-made cake and yellow and white brick ice-cream by the remaining hostesses. Mrs. Gallagher and the Los Angeles guests joined the others in offering happy wishes and congratulations to Mrs. Adams. Both local and visiting friends expressed the opinion that it was the pleasantest affair ever held in the church social rooms.

Tomorrow night at St. Ann's Inn, Robert L. Bieby, the manager, will present the first dinner dance of the spring season, for which elaborate plans have been made. The usual dinner hour of 6 to 9 o'clock will prevail, with dancing to begin about 7 o'clock, continuing until midnight.

A special menu has been planned for the dinner, and dance features will be equally well-planned, since Sanford's orchestra has been engaged for the music. Already the Inn has received a large number of reservations and many more were expected to be made today and up until the dinner hour tomorrow night.

Pretty Ranch Home Is Attractive Setting For Luncheon

Mrs. Joseph B. Irvine (Claudine Seaver) made her attractive country home, a delightful setting for a luncheon recently, one of the first social events she has sponsored since her accession to the ranks of the young matrons.

Miss Ruth Hickox, a sister club-member of the hostess, was made guest of honor. In view of her plans to tour Europe this summer, Luncheon was served in the dining-room where yellow daffodils and blue cornflowers gave a charming color scheme which was emphasized by nut cups and place cards, the latter picturing blue baskets of daffodils.

Returning to the living room following the appetizing lunch, the guests enjoyed an afternoon of music and chat amidst quantities of pink and white roses. Mrs. Irvine was assisted in all details of her entertaining by her mother, Mrs. M. H. Seaver.

Guests asked to participate in the pleasant affair in addition to Miss Hickox, were Mrs. David Keesh and Mrs. Paul Olmstead of Los Angeles; Mrs. Cloyes Evans and Miss Edna Miller of Anaheim; Miss May Salter of Buena Park and Mrs. Frank Finster of Balboa.

Casey Dance Proves Pleasant Event

The K. C. dancing party given last night in Knights of Columbus hall, at which Capistrano Institute, Y. L. I. assisted, proved a very pleasant event. The Glen Coe orchestra from Orange added to the enjoyment of the affair with delightful music.

Balloon and cymbal dances provided the novelty features of the dancing, and cooling fruitade was served to the merry-makers.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

First Presbyterian

Mrs. C. B. Pulver, of Santa Clara avenue, was hostess Wednesday afternoon to the members of northern section of the First Presbyterian Aid society. Thirty-one members were present to enjoy her hospitality. The home was decorated with roses and eucalyptus.

After a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. C. M. Bowman, the program for the afternoon was opened by Miss Kathleen Owen singing to her own accompaniment, two Hawaiian songs, "Hawaiian Lullaby" and "My Hawaiian Garden." Mrs. H. M. Sammis accompanied by Miss Owens sang "Summer is Coming" and "Come to the Fair" after which she led a general singing of old time melodies. Mrs. Pulver and Miss Webb were assisted in their social duties by Mrs. C. M. Bowman, Mrs. Wasserman and Mrs. Roy D. Arms, and served ice cream, angel food cake and coffee.

Current Events

Ebell's First Current Events section met Tuesday for a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Homer Chaney home, 1003 Orange avenue, with Mrs. Chaney and Mrs. William G. Knox as hostesses. Flowers in pastel tints were used in decorative effect, their soft colors repeated in the nut cups and butterfly place cards.

Following the lunch hour, interesting events of current history were read and discussed after which the report of the treasurer was read. This disclosed the fact that over $57 had been added to the treasury by the latest dance at the clubhouse and that the section received $55 as its share of the profits of the candy booth at the recent Spring Market.

It was announced that another dance would be given during the final week of May and that the section would be in charge of a luncheon and card party to be given at Ebell club, June 22 with Mrs. John Estes as chairman of the general committee on arrangements.

PLANT MULBERRY TREES

ESCONDIDO, Calif., April 29.—Approximately 250,000 mulberry trees—enough to plant 320 acres of land—are being set out here to support a silk worm project organized by San Francisco capitalists.

Washington, D. C., has a house made of rammed earth which dates back to 1773. The walls are so hard that the owner recently abandoned an attempt to tear them down.

A loud speaker has been ordered for the Brooklyn supreme court so that the jury and stenographers can be sure of hearing all the evidence.

Country people in many parts of England still believe in witches. On Saturday, when they came to witness the airplane show, returning to Los Angeles late Saturday evening.

Leaders of Ebell Plan Enjoyable Details of Spring Party

With attention of Ebell members has been directed particularly towards the Spring Market, that successful event of last week, at the clubhouse, the former presidents of the society, lending all their aid to the market.

never for one moment lapsed their activities regarding the spring party which they are presenting tomorrow afternoon.

Quietly they have pursued their plans, perfecting them in every detail until now, with the market and its successes all in the past, they are able to give all their energy and attention to making tomorrow's party equally successful.

The delightful affair will be open to all members and their friends, and many reservations have already been made for tables since bridge will be one of the outstanding amusement features of the afternoon. Playing will begin at 2 o'clock, the peacock room having been reserved for cards. At the same time, those who prefer the "witchery of stitchery" will find entertainment to their mind in the lounge where needlework and chat will prevail. Those in the lounge will have the added pleasure of a program of music and readings and will also have share in the gift distribution which will follow the bridge session.

Refreshments will be an interesting feature of the late afternoon and will carry out the prevailing motif of spring. In fact, in every detail of hospitality and entertainment, the past presidents plan one of the outstanding parties of the year.

Since the press of social events may have kept some from making their reservations prior to the date, the hostess group has planned to reserve a few tables so that those able to attend at the last minute, may obtain tickets upon arrival at the clubhouse. This will prevent the possibility of having to arrange tables at the last minute as has sometimes been the case.

Santa Ana members of the Informal Past Presidents' association whose activities are directed by Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank, and who will serve as hostesses, include in addition to Mrs. Crookshank, Mrs. Victor Montgomery, Mrs. J. W. Bishop, Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. Edward M. Nealley, Mrs. Samuel W. Nau, Mrs. C. F. Crose, Mrs. W. L. Grubb, Mrs. John E. Gowen, Mrs. John Clarkson and Mrs. Terry Stephenson.

Dinner Party Honors Recent Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. Lars Hansen of 410 South Sycamore street entertained last night at dinner honoring Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Adams who were married last week. The dinner table was centered with a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas and place cards were miniature wedding bells. Of great importance was the huge white wedding cake. Following the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Adams were presented with a pair of beautiful silver candlesticks. The evening was spent in pleasant conversation and games. Those who were present were Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Adams and children, Corrie and Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Adams and son, Jim, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Adams, J. F. Adams, Neil Adams, Kenneth Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adams and son, Jackie, Ellis Hansen, Adams Hansen, Cecil Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Lars Hansen and Maurice Burns.

Two Visiting Nieces Are Complimented By Hostess

THE presence in her home of two charming nieces, the Misses Delcia and Pearl Powers of Waterloo, Iowa, offered incentive for a delightful party with which Mrs. C. H. Powers entertained a group of young people recently and complimented her house-guests ere the conclusion of their three months' visit.

The Powers home at 314 South Broadway was made lovely by the use of quantities of Scotch broom, sweet peas and green foliage. Guests were bidden for a 1 o'clock luncheon for which tables were arranged with handsome linens and garlands with flowers in yellow and pale green color harmony. Places were found by means of pretty cards in the same tints which later served as tallies for an afternoon of bridge.

Mrs. Powers was assisted in serving the delectable menu by her daughter, Miss Veda Powers. In the bridge game which followed, Mrs. John Scholton, a guest from Hollywood, took honors and was rewarded with a pretty gift as were Mrs. Floyd Spencer, second and Mrs. Walter McClure, low. When the prizes were presented, the hostess, Miss Delcia and Miss Pearl Powers, were each given an exquisite handkerchief as guest prize.

Enjoying the hospitality of the Powers home in addition to the guests of honor were Mrs. Archie V. Herr, Mrs. Floyd Spencer, Mrs. Donald Hillyard, Mrs. Leslie Mitchell, Mrs. Walter McClure, Mrs. Lawrence Phillips, Mrs. Carl Edgar, Mrs. Fred Merker, Mrs. Joseph Gajeski, Mrs. Claude Sleeper and from Hollywood, Mrs. Edward Craemer, Mrs. Ralph Cornwall and Mrs. John Scholton.

The Misses Powers will conclude their pleasant Santa Ana visit tomorrow when they sail in the afternoon on the steamer Yale for a few days with college friends in San Francisco ere departing for their Waterloo home.

SUIT INVOLVES DISPUTE OVER DEED TO LAND

Involving a dispute over a survey and a boundary description contained in a deed to 35 acres of oil land, besides a claim for $75,000, paid upon the property, a suit, filed by Roy F. Daniels and others against Knute B. Norswing, of Fullerton, was being heard today in department 1 of the superior court. Judge C. E. Beaumont, of Fresno, is on the bench in the place of Judge Z. B. West.

Daniels and his associates, who purchased the property from Norswing and marketed it as a unit subdivision for the development of oil, are said to have failed in two drilling attempts. Both wells were dry holes. Norswing had been paid $75,000 on the purchase price.

The purchasers subsequently discovered, they contend, that there is a discrepancy of between three and four feet in the boundary lines of the property. They also allege that the deed does not describe the boundaries with certainty and is therefore worthless.

The court is asked to cancel the agreement of sale and grant judgment for the $75,000 paid to Norswing. The latter is defending the validity of the deed and the sale transaction.

Among the witnesses summoned by the plaintiffs to prove engineering faults in the deed and maps were John Kemmerer, city engineer of Whittier, and William C. Wattles, Los Angeles engineer.

Trial of the action commenced yesterday before Judge Beaumont and was still in session today. Attorneys Randolph Miller and Walter Haas, Los Angeles, represent the plaintiffs. Clement L. Shinn and Walter J. Little, Los Angeles, are counsel for Norswing.

Norswing also figures in other litigation now pending in court, having filed suit several days ago against W. D. Mitchell and the Markwell Building company, of Long Beach, to rescind an agreement for the exchange of acreage on Hope street, Los Angeles, for the six-story Markwell building, in Long Beach. The building was misrepresented, according to Norswing, who also wants judgment for $50,000 he claims to have loaned Mitchell.

The Markwell building was sold in Long Beach this week for $1,250,000 cash.

WELL PORTRAYED ROLES IN PIRATE PRESENTATION LEND AIR OF EXCITING REALISM

Gadzooks! And likewise oodleskins! Were you among the several hundred Santa Anans who last night were taken captive by the redoubtable Captain Applejack, as he sailed the high sea of the Ebull auditorium, flying the Jolly Roger with its skull and crossbones?

For taken captive indeed was each individual member of last night's crowd, greeting the first performance of the current attraction of Santa Ana Community Players. The entire program was enjoyable. Upon entering the auditorium, patrons were shown to their seats by the most gallant privateersmen imaginable—a bevy of young girls in pirate costume. Included in the group, which will serve each night, were Alice Olive Forcey, Doris McWaters, Esther Walker, Lynette Robb, Lola Skaggs, Eleanor Guyer, Adele Lutz, Blanche Thompson and Wilma Silver.

The second noticeable feature was the music presented by a trio composed of Mrs. Walter Spicer, violin; Miss Ruth Armstrong, piano, and W. G. Axworthy, cello. They played delightfully both preceding the play and between the acts.

Stage settings were extremely interesting. Mrs. George Kouts loaned some very handsome old furniture for the library set of the first and third acts and the ship's cabin of the second act was designed by James E. Duggan, one of the principals in the play.

Marks Gerwing's Return "Captain Applejack" marked the return to Community Players' ranks of George Gerwing as director, after an absence on tour with a "What Price Glory?" company. The Players all welcomed him warmly and last night's production proved anew his directorial ability.

The name role was taken by Joseph Peterson, who has been connected with various Community Play successes. His work was excellent in the dual role of the biased Ambrose Applejohn, longing for adventures and romance to color a humdrum existence, and, as the blustering, roystering pirate, after that romance made its appearance. His transitions from the retiring, timid man of wealth to swashbuckling roisterer were especially well done and his lines were given in a manner that emphasized their values and brought out all the latent humor of each situation and episode.

Sharing stellar honors with him was Cecil Fross Willits, in her portrayal of the subtle and exacting role of Poppy Faire, ward of Applejohn and later cabin boy on the pirate craft. Her girlish charm and unsophistication were most convincing and it was impossible to watch her and believe that that

Saturday, May 1 Officially Opens Straw Hat Season

Saturday, this week, is officially the opening of the straw hat season.

Those who insist on having a day that shall be known as Straw Hat day have designated Saturday, May 1, as that day.

That day is to be the day when certain Santa Ana stores break forth with window displays with all that is latest in straw chapeau.

That is the day when one who wears a felt hat that is getting a bit dingy will begin to have a restless feeling along his forehead at the place where the band touches the skin.

Officially, to be sure, the straw hat replacement period is to continue to May 13 and on that day only the brave will continue to wear their felts.

So, all those who are waiting for official announcement of the earliest day when a straw hat will be exactly the right thing, can take it that Saturday, May 1, is that day.

graceful, spontaneous and ingenious portrayal was being given by one who has a demure small daughter of her own and whose natural vivacity could be so subdued and repressed to meet the requirements of the character portrayed.

Irma Huffman May showed that versatility, which is hers to a marked degree, in the highly emotional role of Anna Veleska. Her wiles as the fascinating adventuress were only equalled by her sudden lapses into the role of a true character. Her assumed French accent was quite as clever as her assumed fascinations and her audience fully understood the charm she would exert over a mere man by her exotic personality as the belated traveler, seeking shelter and protection from a mythical Bolshevik pursuer.

Is Charming Aunt

A very charming aunt indeed was Mrs. E. W. Thatcher, as Mrs. Agatha Whitcomb. While the role was not exacting, it was an important one and was capably done by Mrs. Thatcher. The final feminine role was entrusted to Mrs. Leand Spates, who invested the role of Mrs. Pengard with a world of intriguing mystery. The character developed in an unexpected manner and was very convincingly presented.

Aside from Captain Applejack himself, the most important masculine role, that of Ivan Borolsky, was given to James E. Duggan, who again demonstrated a pronounced dramatic ability. Duggan, like other members of the cast, was forced, by the exigencies of the role, to portray more than one character phase. Suavity is a quality of his acting and was exceedingly pronounced in his interpretation of the apparent Bolshevik, in the first act. But whether suave or savage, defiant or subdued, victorious or conquered, he always was convincing.

Of the three remaining members of the cast, Lush, the efficient butler, was portrayed in finished manner by Valmar Clark, whose faithfulness in presenting smaller parts is giving him an excellent foundation for more important roles later on. Horace Pengard, one of the band of thieves, was presented with marked ability by Lynn H. Crawford, who gave the role all the mystery which it required. Johnny Jason, whose emphatic statements had sent Ambrose Applejohn's thoughts on the path of adventure, was made a most entertaining Englishman by Thomas Hollwell.

Stars Are Pirates

One of the most interesting phases of the play was the appearance, in the second act, of a group of Players, who hitherto have taken the most prominent parts in various stage successes of the association. These former stars, so imbued with the community spirit, were the most rakish brand of pirates one ever could dream of seeing. Costumes were clever, but makeups were even cleverer. Who could imagine Cy Featherly with piratical mustachios? Or Robert Northcross with a black patch over one eye, the member having presumably been gouged out in an adventure on the high seas? Or Harry Brackett (with his demon laugh) stumping around with a peg-leg? Warren Fletcher, Carson Smith, Allen Scheetz, Victor Morrison and Ted Grigg completed the band of bloody cut-throats, who ranted and blustered through the mutiny scene in so approved a piratical fashion that the two young girls, sitting side by side in the darkened auditorium, clutched each other's hands fearfully and the little lad, just ahead of them, sat in rapt and wide-eyed fascination as he saw his beloved "Treasure Island" come to life for the moment.

Expect Capacity House It is anticipated that tonight's performance will attract a capacity house, as will the remaining two performances, for so enthusiastic was the reception accorded last night's production that a group of pleased patrons will undoubtedly carry the story of the play's success to all their friends. On every hand, last night, was heard the opinion that "Captain Applejack" was one of the cleverest and most entertaining plays produced in the six years of the existence of Santa Ana Community Players' association.

Ticket sales in the Santa Ana bookstore were expected to be very lively today and tomorrow, as, while sustaining patrons have made their reservations, there still were some excellent seats left for each of the three remaining performances, tonight, tomorrow and Saturday nights.

New Rugs Have Arrived!

Featuring Whittall's Anglo-Persians (America's Finest Rugs)

Chandler's huge stocks of quality floor coverings are attracting buyers not only from Santa Ana and Orange county, but from all over Southern California. With the arrival of the new patterns and new color tones, this is a most opportune time to make selections, no matter for one room or for an entire house.

One of the most exclusive stocks of rugs in Southern California is to be found at all times at Chandler's. But now with many new arrivals to choose from, the stock is more inviting than usual. Come and see this display.

In featuring Anglo-Persian rugs we call your attention to the fact that in addition to all regular sizes we now offer many odd-sized rugs, as follows: 9x15, 9x18, 9x21, together with 11-3x12, 11-3x15, 11-3x21, etc.

We carry wide loom plain carpets in 9, 10 1/2 and 12-foot widths, from which rugs of any length may be made. Also a very complete stock of Wilton and Axminster carpets, by the yard, including hall and stair runners.

About Floor Coverings

When you select floor coverings for your home it is very important to bear in mind that they must withstand severe usage.

In fact, your rugs receive greater wear than any other item of home furnishings.

Therefore floor coverings which are bought on the basis of price alone will certainly prove the most expensive in the long run. Honest, genuine quality must be woven into each rug to insure lasting satisfaction.

The safe way to buy rugs is to make your selections at a store which deals in rugs and floor coverings of nationally advertised and nationally recognized quality.

NO CRIMINAL CHARGE EVER FILED AGAINST DESIGNER OF BREA DEATH AIRPLANE

No criminal charge has been filed against Fred Taheld, designer of the Brea "Humming Bird," which fell 500 feet with Ray Freeman, Long Beach aviator, at the Brea Air club meet last Saturday, and no such action ever has been contemplated, according to William Tremaine, who was associated with Taheld in the construction of the tiny monoplane.

Tremaine said that there had been many rumors concerning Taheld but that every one of them was untrue. Tremaine is eager to induce the young Austrian airplane designer to return to Brea and resume his work in perfecting plans for the "Humming Bird" type. Tremaine said that certain patents, which Taheld and he planned to secure, would be delayed until Taheld returns. Taheld vanished just after Freeman fell. Tremaine's car, in which he left, was found abandoned in Santa Ana canyon. Tremaine is of the opinion that the shock of Freeman's death has been so great to Taheld that the young man has become temporarily mentally unbalanced.

Tremaine made the following statement:

Perfecting Aulet Ship

"This boy's name was Fred Taheld, not Albert Taheld. He perfected the Aulet type of airship used by the German and Austrian armies during the World War. After the war he drifted to Argentina and then came to Orange county, as he had friends in Garden Grove. He later came to Brea. He told me what he could do. I was very much interested in aviation. He appealed to me as being honest and having ability."

"We started to build the plane in the latter part of December, 1925. It was completed the last of February. We installed a four cylinder motorcycle engine and took the plane to Long Beach. Ray Freeman made the initial flight in the plane in the first week of March. The first motor did not prove successful on account of over-heating."

"Later we got the same type of motor from the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, and it was installed and two flights in the machine were made. The first flight was of 11 minutes and the second flight, 12 minutes, the plane reaching an altitude of 700 feet. The motor bearings became over-heated and a dead stick landing was necessary."

"We were unable to buy the kind of motor we wanted to fly the ship so we built a motor of our own, a three cylinder radio type. The motor was installed in the plane and the machine was taken to Long Beach Tuesday, April 20. Ray Freeman made several flights there. Worked All Night."

"Fred Thoele, a friend of Taheld, called me on the telephone and told me that the ship had done 115 miles an hour. I immediately went to Long Beach and Ray Freeman demonstrated to me that the ship was very fast. Friday night, before the meet, Thoele worked all night on the plane, examining it and making such adjustments as Freeman asked."

"Before the plane was taken from the hangar, it was inspected by various persons, who were capable of judging its strength. Reed, of Long Beach, who is mechanic for Al Ebricht, looked over everything and said that everything was all right. In talking to Ray Freeman before the Humming Bird left the field, he said that he hoped the motor would not quit as he did not wish to make a dead stick landing. Taheld's motor and his plane constitute, in my mind, one of the outstanding developments in aviation in the United States. He is a genius in that sort of thing. If I can find him and talk to him I know he will come back. The future of our airplane manufacturing plant in Brea rests with the return of Taheld."

Rumored Sale of Irvine Property Is Denied by Owners

Sale of the Irvine ranch as a unit is not even under consideration, according to a declaration today by James Irvine Jr., who refuted rumors in the city that the vast holdings had been sold to a syndicate of Florida men for $71,000,000.

"My father and I had not heard the rumor," Irvine said, and he added the comment that the quoted price is far too low for the property.

Irvine also asserted that negotiations had not been completed for sale of approximately 700 acres of the Irvine ranch, lying in the vicinity of Corona del Mar. Rumors have been persistent that the deal had been completed and that purchase was being made by a group of Los Angeles men.

PROPOSED AUTO CLUB MEASURE IS EXPLAINED

Inequality of distribution of state highway funds under a regulation established when the state system was first organized is one of the reasons for promotion, by the Auto Club of Southern California, of the initiative measure it has proposed for submission to the voters of the state of California, according to declarations made to a small group of Orange county men by E. E. East, chief engineer of the club, at a conference held yesterday afternoon in the chamber of commerce rooms.

East invited the group to meet him in order that he might present various features of the initiative and explain some of the reasons leading to its development.

Pointing out that in the original division of funds, northern California received 66 per cent and Southern California 34 per cent, the engineer said that by mutual agreement the present highway commission is splitting the funds 50-50.

He gave special emphasis to a statement that the club is not fighting the highway commission and declared that the present commission and the present state highway engineer are efficient and competent.

Seek Equal Distribution
"We have no assurance that the agreement of the commission will continue in effect should a change be made in the state administration and for this reason, we are seeking to definitely establish equal distribution of the funds between the 45 counties of the north and the 13 counties of the south," East said, in stressing an explanation of the provision dividing the state into two groups.

He also explained that it is the opinion of club officials that funds for construction for new roads should not be collected from motorists by imposition of a gasoline tax.

"Taxing motorists for new roads is wrong, but it is fair and correct to tax them for maintenance of the highways," he declared in clinching a point to the effect that motorists are not the only class benefited by new construction work.

It was the opinion of East that the annual appropriation by the legislature of $5,000,000 for new road work, as provided by the club measure, plus an annual appropriation by the national government of $2,500,000, would provide all the funds that could be economically expended by the commission. This, with $10,000,000 raised by the 2-cent gasoline tax for maintenance, he pointed out, would give the commission a total of approximately $17,500,000 for new roads and for maintenance.

Orange County Cited
East laid emphasis on the point that had it not been for the agreement of the commission to divide the funds equally between the north and the south that much reconstruction and new work in the south, which has been done, could not have been accomplished. He pointed particularly to construction work on the coast highway in Orange county as having been made possible by this just distribution.

W. C. Jerome, county auditor, said that Orange county certainly had no complaint to make so far as highway work in Orange county was concerned. Among those attending the conference were N. T. Edwards, highway commissioner; J. P. Baumgartner, T. E. Stephenson, Horace Fine, W. O. Hart, G. R. Wells, L. A. Stevenson, S. B. Edwards, Elmer Heidt, A. M. Brown, W. C. Jerome, D. Eymann Huff, Claude Rogers, F. L. Purinton and Nat H. Neff.

100 AUTOS ARE EXPECTED FOR TRADE JUNKET

Officers of the junior division of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, which organization is to hold a friendship and trade tour to more than a score of Southern California cities on May 19, expect more than 100 automobiles to be in the caravan, it was announced today.

Last year there were more than 50 cars in line and it is the opinion of those in charge of the junket that the number will be doubled this year.

E. M. Sundquist, in charge of the entertainment, declared today that the Lions club quartet would accompany the junior chamber boosters and that further entertainment would be provided by Charleston dancers, and a jazz orchestra. It is planned to have a Santa Ana man speak briefly in each town as regards the relations of Santa Ana and Orange county with the remainder of the Southland.

The Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce has been invited to have several cars in line. President Mason Yould, of the Junior division, announced.

PARK FEE REDUCED

ASHLAND, Ore., April 29.—The entrance fee to Crater Lake National park has been reduced from $2.50 to $1 per automobile, according to word received here from Washington, D. C. The fee is good for an entire season. It partly pays for maintaining park roadways.

Pie, Potatoes and Bank Are Stolen

A pie, several potatoes and a Sunday school bank, containing $2 in small change, were the fruits of labor collected yesterday afternoon by a burglar, who broke into the home of J. H. Spohn, Buena Park, while members of the family were away from home.

A report of the theft was made to the sheriff's office and Dan Adams, deputy sheriff, and Herman Zabel, finger print expert, made an examination. Entrance was made into the home by cutting a screen over a window.

CHANGE PLEAS AND ASK FOR PROBATION

C. L. Wheatland and Mrs. W. J. Olds, who were arrested recently in Santa Ana and charged with contributing to the delinquency of Mrs. Olds' two young children, today changed their pleas from not guilty to guilty, as they were about to go to trial.

Both asked for probation and Superior Judge E. J. Marks fixed the date of their hearing for May 7, at 9:30 a. m.

The trial was set for 10 a. m. today, and the jury had assembled for the case. There was a half-hour's delay, while the defendants and their counsel, R. T. Walters, of Whittier, conferred with District Attorney A. P. Nelson. Then Walters announced to the court that the defendants were ready to change their pleas and abandon their defense to the charge. The application for probation followed.

MAY QUEEN RACE IN HOME STRETCH

Growing popularity of the annual May day frolic, held by the Orange County Officers and Employees' association in the county park, was manifest today, when Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent and head of the association, announced that 475 tickets already had been sold and that the attendance at the affair Saturday undoubtedly would reach 500.

The previous record attendance was 380. As the time for the affair approaches, the county's official family grows more excited over the good time in prospect. The contest for election of a May Queen to preside over the frolic has entered the home stretch and, with two more days of the campaign, it has grown acute. Nearly a score of fair candidates are in the race, including several of the "brunette horse" type. One blonde horse also is believed to be running, it is mysteriously hinted.

Votes for the May Queen will be counted in the park Saturday afternoon.

SEATTLE HAS 430,000

SEATTLE, Wn., April 29.—Seattle today is a city of 430,000 population, it was estimated by C. A. Bross, Poly company manager, who based his figures on a new census taken for a city directory. Bross said Seattle has increased by about 20,000 persons during the last year.

Castor oil, which is much used as a lamp oil in India, gives a whiter light than oil of any other kind.

GREAT ERAS IN CALIFORNIA HISTORY LIVED THROUGH BY VENERABLE SPANISH WOMAN

By ISABEL CLAIRE LOPEZ

In your own mind try and figure out the thoughts which would come to you had you lived 122 years and had nothing to do but to sit and muse upon the wonders of the world and its everlasting changes.

Imagine yourselves living in the age of chivalry and glory, the era of romance, when California was rich with hospitality and gaiety; then transform yourself back again to the land of today, where great buildings, humming motors and gleaming paved highways invite haste and self interest.

Then visit Senora Maria Antonia Maxima Longina Verdugo de Chaballo, who celebrated, recently, her one hundred and twenty-second birthday.

I am young, but I have seen transformations take place. The fears and thrills of a great war have been mine to experience. Troubles and misgivings, which beset the lives of all of us, I have not missed and sometimes, when I see the deception and crime going on around me, I do not wonder that the bravest of hearts become saddened unto death. But what must be the flitting thoughts of the little bent figure, who "has lived to lose" in the words of Richard Hovey, and who finds the gallantry and learning of early California dying away. She has seen the lands of her ancestors divested of their fruitfulness and watched them diminish until only a few scant acres remain.

Grew With State.

On the day Senora Chaballo was born this golden state of ours was yet an infant and together they have grown. She has passed from prattling babyhood to glowing girlhood and through the happy stages of wife, mother, grandmother, great grandmother and great, great grandmother.

On bright, sunny days, which are frequent in the "green Verdugo hills," she is seen in her little old fashioned garden or sitting under the beautiful old pepper tree, which gracefully shades the surrounding yard. But for the wrinkles, which her once lovely face is furrowed with, it would be difficult to believe that she has lived almost a century and a quarter.

Although "those endearing young charms," with which her maidenhood were crowned, have flown, there clings about her the charm of the old school, which will never fade as long as the life-blood courses through her veins. Her soft, drawing Spanish accent is pleasing to the ear, although the fragments of her memory will not allow her to converse at length.

Senora Chaballo's grandfather, El Capitán Jose Maria Verdugo, was one of the king's bravest and best loved soldiers and, in recognition of his faithful service to a gracious sovereign, he was given the first of the old Spanish grants to be bestowed upon a white man in California. Its western boundary was the east bank of the Los Angeles river, while on the east, Arroyo Seco met its line. To the south were Los Cerritos Colorado, ("Three Red Pines") and the wide expanse of 44,000 acres stretched away to east Los Angeles.

Now there remains only a few acres of the vast rancho, on which the once wealthy and industrious family dwelt, and the story of how it came to be indeed a grievous one. It tells of the trust and faith the kindly Spaniards had in mankind and how this belief wrought destruction and brought them nothing but loss and poverty.

Early Californians were rich, but their wealth was centered in their lands, cattle and other livestock, as coin was scarce, but with the coming of the gold rush and the easterner came the money and deceit, which was to take the fertile fields and productive orchards from them forever. No longer were they able to trade crops and stock for the necessities of life. The shrewd newcomers thus were able to prevail upon the unsuspecting landowners. In most cases, they were lawyers and they would approach their victims with offers to purchase a piece of land. They then would ask for the titles or deeds and, in a short time, present bills for sums which they claimed as remuneration for surveying. There was seldom any money in the family coffers, so property had to be given in payment, and the wily abscnders would forget to return the papers, which were all the poor people had to prove their ownership. It was a sorry state of affairs, for the Spaniards could not secure legal council as the only lawyers were the easterners, who were bent only on securing more lands and who refused to prosecute those of their own race.

Home Is Burned.

The destruction of the old Verdugo home, where the family lived ever since its coming to California, came about in a way which was regretful because of its imprudence. An epidemic of smallpox descended upon the country at the time when Mrs. Chaballo's mother and her children resided there and when two members of the brood died with the dreaded disease, the authorities came and burned the home to the ground. Gray ashes and glowing cinders were all that was left of the hacienda, which had been one of the most famous landmarks, and gone were the treasures of centuries—silver, dishes, documents and clothing. With their home ruined and their lands fast diminishing, the indomitable spirit of the Verdugos was not vanquished.

Those who are skeptical about the authenticity of the age of the subject of my story will find her birth record in the old archives of the San Gabriel Mission, which disclose the following information:

On the sixteenth of March, 1804, in the church of the Mission of the Archangel, San Gabriel, there was solemnly baptized, a parishioner, born on the preceding day at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, daughter of Julio Verdugo, native of this Mission and of his wife, Maria de Jesus Romero, native of the Presidio of Santa Barbara, by name, Maria Antonia Longina Maxima.

Further account of the christening gives the names of the godparents, which are not entirely clear and the record is signed by Padre Jose Sanchez.

LADIES' NIGHT OBSERVED BY TOASTMASTERS

"Ladies' night" was observed last night by the Toastmasters' club, at the Y.M.C.A., in a style that reflected great credit on the ability and enthusiasm of the members. With about 75 persons present, the men, who have been working in the lines of training given by the Toastmasters' club, presented an interesting program. The toast to "the ladies," given by Sam Hurwitz, was a fine bit of after dinner oratory, and the response, given by Mrs. Robert Horn, was worthy of the occasion.

The toast to the "Toastmasters' club," was presented by C. E. Bressler, president of the Junior section of the club, who explained the idea and methods of the organization. E. T. Brennan, speaking on "Lights and Shadows," gave an entertaining account of some of the problems of the amateur orator. A. W. Albrecht spoke of the use of imagination in business, as well as in literature and oratory.

Water conservation was ably discussed by C. E. Hawk, who outlined the situation in Southern California and called for concerted action to prepare for the future by providing adequate means for saving the water now wasted. Fleetwood Bell gave a philosophical discussion of "The Rewards of Gentleness." The general subject of "Public Speaking" was well handled by C. W. Rowland. R. C. Smedley acted as toastmaster for the evening.

The occasion took on added interest by the presence of several members of the Anaheim Toastmasters' club.

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—Jackie Fields, fighting the best fight of his career, and Roscoe Hall, the Iowa panther, were the winners in the twin main event at the Olympic auditorium.

Johnny Lamar, one of the greatest of Mexican lightweights, went down to defeat before a barrage of Fields' punches. Fields outgeneraled Lamar and landed blows with the regularity of clockwork. His defense was almost perfect.

The veteran Phil Salvatore tried hard to figure out Hall's weak spot but he never located it. Fighting with a very peculiar style, Hall's head was seldom in the way of Salvatore's punches. The Iowa boy weaved about like the swaying of the corn stalks in his home state.

The count is two balls and two strikes on the hitter, when the team at bat discovers he is the improper batsman. What can be done about it?

It is always possible to correct a batting-out-of-order situation if the mistake is discovered before the batsman has been retired or becomes a base-runner.

When the team at bat realizes the man hitting is the improper batsman it has the right to remove him and substitute the proper player.

In such a situation the proper batsman simply takes the count that was on the improper hitter. In this case it was two balls and two strikes.

The only penalty of the proper batter is that he takes the handicap of balls and strikes placed upon him by the improper hitter.

SANATORIUM PLANNED
TUCSON, Ariz., April 29.—A $200,000 desert sanatorium, specializing in treatment of disease by solar radiation, is to be erected near here soon. Most of the patients are to be children, according to E. L. Wyatt, head of the proposed institution.

STEPFATHER IS VICTORIOUS IN PROPERTY SUIT

Nars W. Hunter and Gertrude Boyd, of Orange, failed to appear in court yesterday to press their suit against H. C. Plotner, their stepfather, to obtain a half-interest in property in his possession. Superior Judge R. Y. Williams heard Plotner's evidence in the case and decided in his favor, granting a decree that the property in question is separate property of Plotner.

Hunter and Mrs. Boyd, children of the late Mrs. Ellura Plotner, deceased wife of H. C. Plotner, claimed a half interest in the Plotner property on the ground that it had been community property of Plotner and their mother. Residence property in Orange, Orange bank stock and $3000 on deposit in an Orange building and loan association was involved in their suit.

Plotner answered, alleging that the property in question had been acquired by the proceeds of sale of property he had owned separately before marriage, or from prior inheritance, or from the revenues and profits of his separate property. Attorneys Z. E. West, Jr. and Franklin G. West represented him in the case.

Evangelists To Leave Santa Ana

Bessie Randall Bruffett and Bert W. Bruffett, evangelists, who founded the Santa Ana Christian Missionary Alliance church, will leave Monday on an evangelistic tour that will require one year to complete, beginning in Washington and concluding in Florida, they announced today. The young couple will make use of a big tent, which is being built for them in Seattle.

"The church we have organized is expected to remain intact until we return next spring," the Rev. Mr. Bruffett said. "Starting a week from Sunday, May 9, the missionary convention and Bible conference will be held here. Rev. C. H. Christian, district superintendent, will be in charge. At that time a permanent pastor will be selected from the speakers."

Look around you. Pick out the men and women who are prominent—who are doing things. The President of the bank; the President of the P. T. If you dared ask them why, they'd tell you that good teeth mean good health. And no one with poor teeth can spare the force necessary to do the important work.

A Step Ahead

To meet the needs of the public we have equipped a thoroughly modern first class dental office. Here pain is eliminated. The bugbear of cheap work we do not allow. But by co-operating with our associated expert dentists we reduce expenses to a point where we can do the highest possible dentistry at the lowest possible prices. DEVELOPMENT SECTION

SECTION TWO SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1926 PAGES NINE TO SIXTEEN

IDEAS and Ideals

A. V. NAPIER

Sycamore street in Santa Ana was laid out simply to accommodate the horse-drawn vehicles of the day. No motor cars existed then and no human mind could have foreseen from that distant time that the blocks between Third and Sixth would be called upon to accommodate 125 automobiles. Many other streets are equally congested in Santa Ana and in almost every other town in Southern California. City fathers who planned the average California town thought they were bordering on extravagance in the matter of giving width to streets. Traffic problems in the past 25 years have thrown the original plans far out of balance. We who are planning now for the next generation—how far will we miss the mark?

Sometimes, we get to thinking that California is pretty well cluttered up with people, but when the area of the state and the number of people per square mile are compared with conditions in other parts of the world, it is apparent that California is still comparatively a pioneer country. We have not really begun to be crowded. The island of Great Britain has an area of about 85,000 square miles and there are 42,000,000 people living on it. When you look it over, it doesn't appear crowded either, outside the larger cities. California is represented by 158,000 square miles and the estimated population is only about 4,000,000. California could accommodate 20 times its present population and still be self-supporting. Some day it will undoubtedly have such a population. According to last week's traffic figures, people are coming into Los Angeles at the average rate of 1500 per day. Proportionate figures would no doubt be shown if reports from other cities were available. Many of these people are merely visitors, but there are many reasons why people want to live in California. Families from other parts of the nation are rapidly making a permanent abiding place of California. The movement is growing in momentum and will do doubt continue until the Pacific slope is the most congested part of America.

With the vision of a densely populated California in mind, men of business acumen will be thinking in terms of enormous increases in real estate values. There appears to be no question that generations will pass before California real estate ceases to be a profitable investment, but serious thought should also be given to the problems of accommodating a greater population. Attention should be given now to future automobile, street car and railroad traffic, to more attractive and more efficient housing facilities, to water and fuel conservation and production, to parks and places of recreation, to schools, to commercial possibilities and to every phase of necessary civic and community development.

Instead of modestly planning for a city of 50,000 population, Santa Ana should be looking forward to the time when half a million people, either permanent or transient, will demand accommodations. Such a thought, on first consideration, will no doubt be branded as visionary in the extreme, but visionary people have built California to its present stage and the developments which have enormously exceeded their vision.

$30,000 WILL BE SPENT ON NEW BUILDING OF GAS FIRM

Southern Counties Begins Construction of Large Warehouse in Santa Ana

PLAN REMOVAL OF OLD STRUCTURES

R. C. McMillan, Contractor Is Expected to Finish Operations in 90 Days

Approximately $30,000 will be expended on the warehouse and garage structure which the Southern Counties Gas company will erect at First and Minnie streets. It was stated today by Jack Hayden, district manager.

Contract for the building has been let to R. C. McMillan. The structure will be 80 by 155 feet and will be of concrete construction, with the exterior of stucco material. It will be one story in height.

Space for 25 machines will be available in the new building. It is estimated that the contractor will conclude operations in 90 days.

According to Manager Hayden, the company plans to remove its old buildings on the tract at First and Minnie streets.

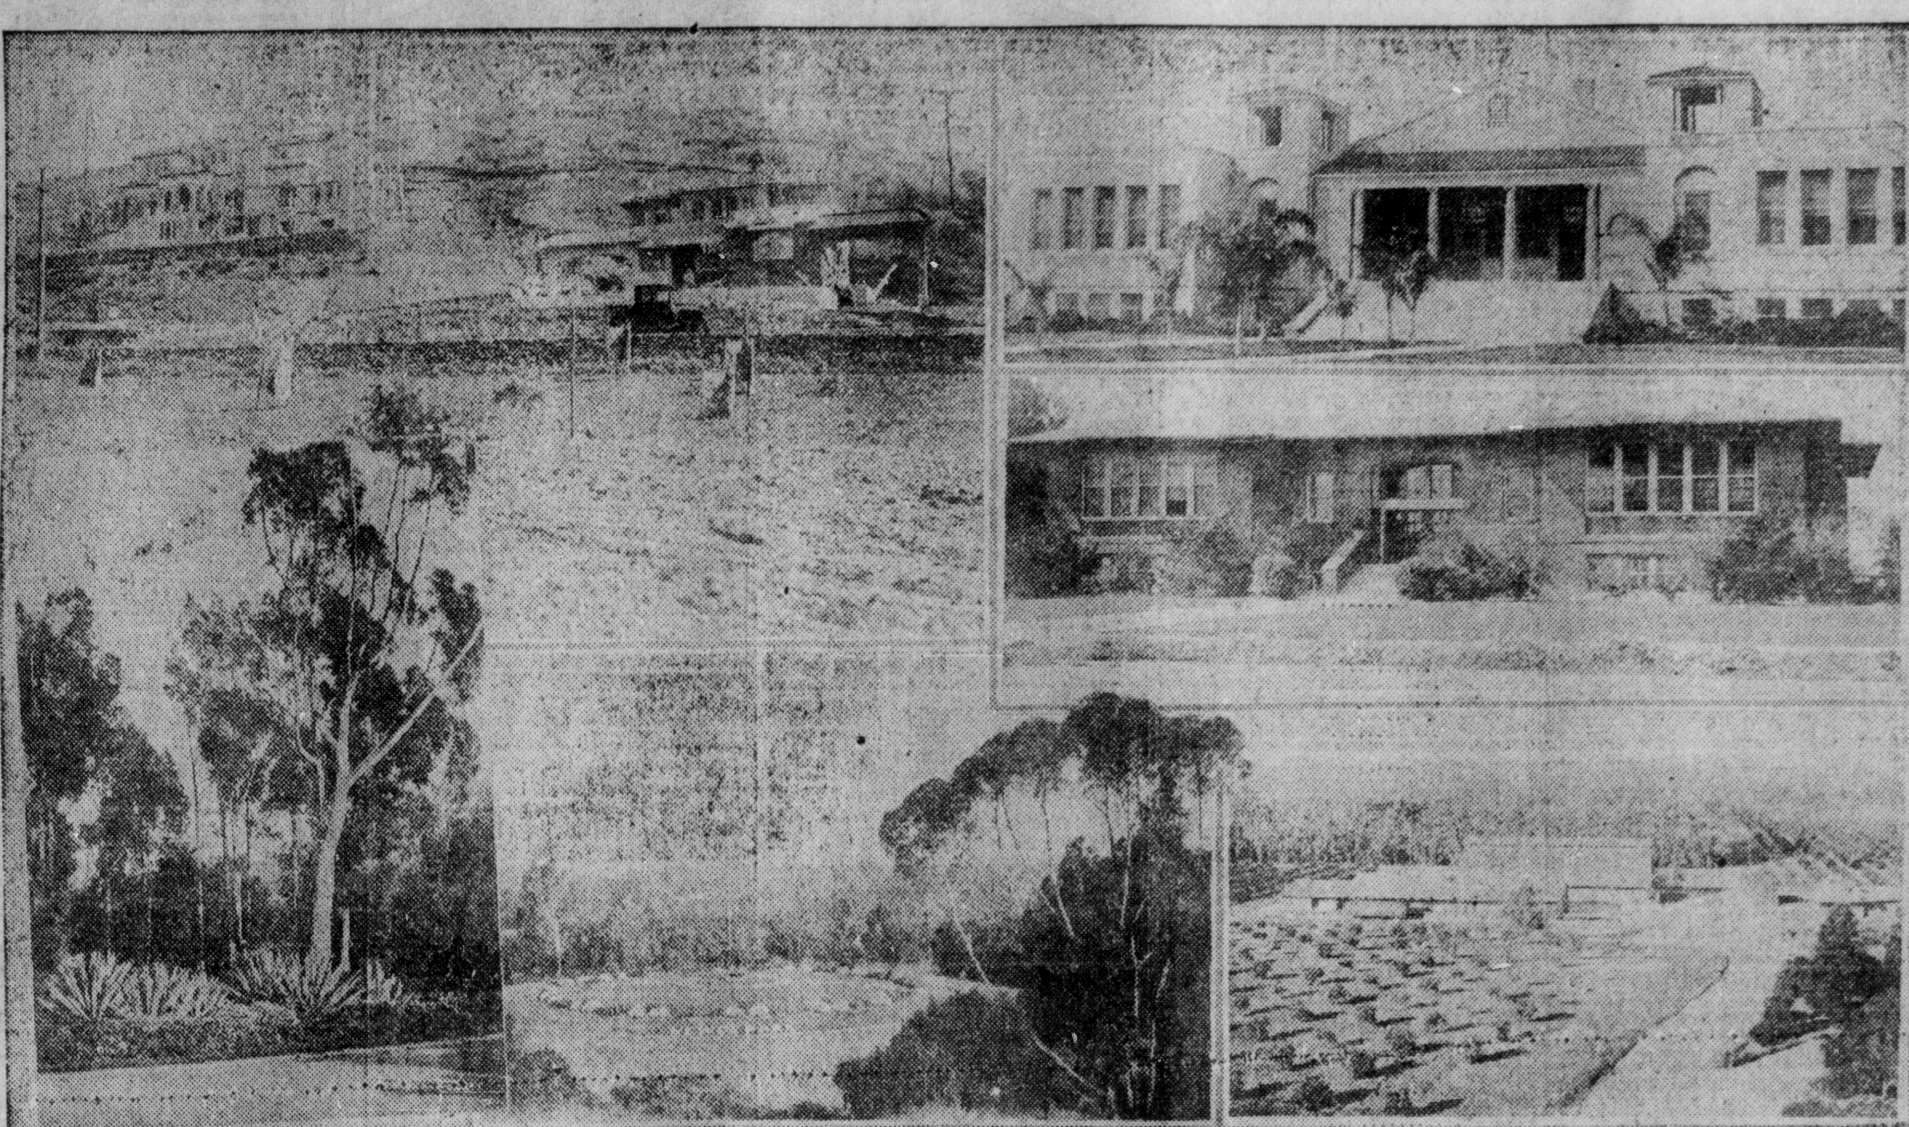

The largest high pressure gas container in the world is situated on the tract. The Southern Counties Gas company is preparing to expend a large sum of money in Huntington Beach in order to supply the projected oil wells in the new area with industrial gas. Hayden stated. A number of operators have already made arrangements for the company to run gas lines to their rigs. The Huntington Beach trustees recently passed an ordinance permitting the gas concern to sell industrial gas within the city limits.

Hartranft Gives Talk On Homes

FULLERTON, April 29.—The main speaker at the Rotary club's weekly luncheon at McFarland's cafe yesterday noon was Assemblyman S. C. Hartranft. As the program was in observance of Better Homes week, Mr. Hartranft based his talk on that subject. He stressed the point that it was not decorations and beautiful fittings that made the home perfect, but rather the guidance by fathers and mothers.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. C. A. Marcy, who was in charge of the program. The Rev. Graham Hunter, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, spoke briefly on the importance of having better housing conditions in Fullerton. Miss Lucille Dyckman gave two excellent piano solos which were well received by all those present. P. C. Krause, who has just closed his term as president of the Rotary club, was presented with a beautiful diamond Rotary button by the organization as a means of appreciation of his work.

MAIN, BUFFALO SITE IS SOLD; BUSINESS BUILDING PLANNED

Location of a business structure on the northeast corner of North Main street and Buffalo avenue loomed today with announcement that Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Francis have purchased the residence corner lot from Dr. C. T. Cleland.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis are proprietors of the Flower street grocery at 523 South Flower street, which they have been operating for two or three years.

Francis said today in his plans for improving the property, he contemplated moving the residence to the rear of the lot and face it on Buffalo avenue, this change to be followed by erection of a one-story brick business structure. The lot has a frontage of 55 feet on Main street and 150 feet on Buffalo.

It is possible that three storerooms will be on Main street and one on Buffalo, Francis said. An architect has been consulted but plans have not been decided.

Francis came to California three years ago from Ross county, Iowa, where he was engaged for many years in the mercantile business. He is a member of the Santa Ana Municipal band and is secretary of that organization.

"Mrs. Francis and I are completely sold on Santa Ana and our purchase of the North Main street site has been made in the belief that Santa Ana is going to develop into a large city and that North Main street some day is going to be a business thoroughfare for virtually its full length within the city," Francis said today, in commenting on his purchase and plans for the future.

LIVESEY TO OPEN MAIN STREET STORE

J. E. Livesey Jr. today was making preparations for re-entering the sporting goods business. He has taken a lease on the storeroom at 304 North Main street, the room occupied by Jack Carter's men furnishing store, and on May 6 will open a sporting goods store with a complete stock.

Carter will move Monday to the room immediately north of the entrance to the West Coast-Walker theater, and on the same date, Livesey will start alterations to fit the room for his line.

Livesey was in the sporting goods business here for many years, being associated at first with his father and later with his brother-in-law, Elmer Preston. The latter firm went out of business when it sold its lease at an East Fourth street location.

Livesey said today that he already had ordered his stock and that he would carry sporting goods exclusively the stock being selected with special consideration for patrons of this community.

HOME WILL COST $18,500; PERMITS OVER HALF MILLION

Eighteen thousand five hundred dollars will be expended by R. A. Emison, general manager of the Santa Ana Lumber company, in the erection of a two-story residence at 2304 Riverside drive. The house will be 35 by 73 feet and of frame and stucco construction. It will be built under the direction of Contractor William Rohrbacher. Construction work on the Emison structure is scheduled to start at once.

A four-story one-story building to cost $8500 will be built at 1023 East Fourth street by a syndicate headed by W. C. Collins and George W. Young. The building, which will be of brick, will be 80 by 32 feet. The contract has been awarded to R. C. McMillan.

Six thousand dollars will be expended by Flake Smith, 1705 West First street, in the erection of a residence and a garage at 2409 Heliotrope drive. The contract has been let to E. C. Rogers.

The Santa Ana Improvement company, 306 North Broadway, has secured a permit for the construction of a dwelling and a garage at 1323 West Washington street. The expenditure will total $4000. The house will have six rooms.

W. H. Dixon, 510 West Nineteenth street, will build a house and a garage at 1115 West Washington street at a cost of $4000. The owner will direct the work.

Thirty-eight hundred dollars will be spent by James Erskine, 820 Fruit street, in the erection of a residence and a garage at 1239 South Broadway. The house will have five rooms. The contract has been awarded to Bright Brothers.

A. B. Hiltedahl, 806 South Flower street, will construct a five-room house and a garage at 1306 South Van Ness avenue at an expenditure of $3000. The contractor is E. C. Rogers.

L. L. Lukeman of the Grand Central market has secured a permit for the construction of a five-room dwelling and a garage at 122 South Lyon street. The cost will be $3000.

With 38 permits granted, the total for the month yesterday amounted to $138,298. Since January 1, 204 permits have been issued, the valuation being $513,954.

Estates are subdivided.

Situated on the low, rolling hills over which one must ride before entering Orange County park, and acting as a gateway to the park, is El Modena.

A few stores, a quaint old Quaker church, and a number of neat and pretty, though unpretentious homes, form the major portion of El Modena.

Recent development in the town is evident. Two of the prettiest school buildings in Orange county are located in the little village. The town is not incorporated.

Spend $60,000 on Homes.

An ideal location for beautiful hillside homes is offered at El Modena and two wealthy persons recently started construction of homes which will cost in excess of $50,000.

Fred H. Alden, sales manager of the California Wire company, with headquarters at Orange, is the owner of one of the homes under construction. It is situated on a hillside east of El Modena. The home looks almost directly down on the little village and commands a view of territory for miles around. More than $40,000 will be expended on the house and grounds. A beautiful drive through an extraordinary garden leads up to the front of the house. Roof garden, a unique back yard with a pond and a natural waterfall tumbling from the cliffs back of the house, with a bridge reaching the garden from the roof of the home, are features of the back yard of the residence.

Newspaperman Buils.

Adjacent to the Alden home is the new home of A. B. Adair, retired Chicago newspaperman. More than $20,000 is being invested in the hillside home and grounds.

One of the most interesting portions of El Modena is Hewes park, a portion of the estate of David Hewes, pioneer of the El Modena section. Subdivision of this huge estate promises to bring a boom in home building and commercial development never before experienced by the town.

Estates are subdivided.

It was only recently that the great orange and lemon orchards on the huge estate were subdivided and many are the people, seeking a quiet country home, who have purchased.

Speed; Plus Endurance

It may have been made out of the whole cloth. Newspaper stories, like cheap tires, sometimes grow out of the fabric of imagination. But the tale was about a black cat that came back. People try that stunt every now and then. Retreading a tire carcass is another example. Oh, yes! The cat's tale! Well, 1200 miles in 10 days. If not true, it's a good story anyway.

Speed, plus endurance, is the modern slogan for men and pneumatics. Neither must tire (though one is a tire) or the result of tiring. We could tell tales about the endurance of tires that would either make you weep or yell liar. What we do instead is to keep the everlasting untiring smile on the faces of our tire patrons. "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges sour waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." 10 BALLOONS ENTER ELIMINATION TESTS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 29—With ten contesting and pilot balloons on the ground and their crews ready for the take-off this afternoon, officials were hoping for favorable winds for the national elimination balloon race which would carry this year's entrants to new records.

Distinguished officials here to witness the start include Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service; Major Pablo Sidor, Mexican air service commander, and Commander John Rogers, U. S. N., of the San Francisco-Honolulu flight of last year.

Early weather forecasts indicated a southwest wind would take the balloons across southeastern Missouri, western Kentucky, Illinois and possibly Indiana and Ohio, to the great lakes region.

TEMPLE THEATRE

"Lombardi Ltd." has proven to be an outstanding play for the Connell Players because it is of the type that gives each and every member of the cast a wonderful opportunity to come to the front. Another reason is because it is a clean play that appeals to all lovers of the spoken drama.

Robert Alderman is gaining many friends by his splendid performances as Mr. Lombardi, the owner of a fashionable dress-making studio where the wealthy pampered grande dames come "to be made to look what they ain't."

This fine play is soon to pass on and make room for a real hokum bill the kind of a show that people like to laugh.

The production will be "Confusion." This great old piece has served to make some wonderful stars and some may remember the famous actor, Nat Goodwin in this fun-maker. The plot is just one mix-up after another. It takes the entire evening to set everybody right, giving Harry Schumm and the entire company a great chance to prove themselves as comedians.

WEST-COAST-WALKER

With marital troubles resulting from a double triangle as a basis, "The Circle," opened at the West Coast-Walker theater yesterday.

The screen production was adapted from the play by W. Somerset Maugham and is a brilliant contribution to pantomime art. None of the satire and irony for which the stage play was noted has been lost in transferring it to the screen.

The treatment has been made in a light vein and many humorous situations have been created. It opens with a prologue in which the wife of an English lord elopes with their mutual friend. A lapse of 80 years occurs between the prologue and the play. Alec B. Francis, Eugene Bessner, and George Fawcett offer fine portrayals as the first triangle.

In the play, Eleanor Boardman, Malcolm McGregor, and Creighton Hale form the second triangle. As the son of the deserted nobleman, Creighton Hale finds himself facing the same fate which befell his father. Eleanor Boardman as the young wife depicts the character in a most bewitching manner. Malcolm McGregor portrays the role of the young lover in a very forceful manner.

On the five-act vaudeville bill are the Variety Folies in "A Trip from Spain to Russia;" Dura, Cross and Rene in "Brilliant Bits of Originality;" Bell and Belgrave in "Sweethearts;" Bove, an "Eccentric Violinist;" and Jonathan, "A Lad With Laughs That Last."

YOST THEATRE

If you have tears, prepare to hide them; if you have cares, prepare to shed them; and if you have troubles, prepare to forget them, for Harold Lloyd is here!

Harold—with his lensless spectacles and ingratiating smile; his shy, appealing manner and wholesome, contagious humor—is at the Yost theater in his latest funfest, "For Heaven's Sake!" to make you laugh and chuckle and grin and guffaw and roar at his antics, adventures and thrilling experiences as a missionary in the slums of a big city.

Yes, Harold is a psalm-singing salvationist in his new comedy opus—a mighty crusader, who comes to the conclusion that the underworld can stand a lot of uplifting. Just picture him trying to persuade the toughs and gangsters to trod the straight and narrow and slippery path and you'll have a faint idea of the uproarious action, the hysterical excitement and the delicious fun concentrated in "For Heaven's Sake!"

Of course, there's a girl at the bottom of Harold's strenuous soul-saving efforts—a lovely and lovable girl, charmingly personified by Joya Ralston, who furnishes the love interest so necessary to every well-balanced photoplay.

WEST END THEATRE

It seems that Jackson Gregory writes stories to order for Buck Jones, the western star. "The Outlaw," one of his most recent books, has been made into a picture, "Hearts and Spurs," starring Jones and it is showing at the West End

LAND SUBDIVISION AIDS EL MODENA

chased a small grove. The section is regarded as one of the best orange and lemon districts in Southern California.

About 1882, David Hewes bought the acreage near El Modena, and development work in the district started at once. Hewes first planted the land to grapes. Barley fields had for years covered the slopes of the hills.

Home of Raisin Grapes.

It was at El Modena that the first raisin grapes in California were raised and it was here that the first raisins were made. Robert McPherson made the first raisins on a ranch adjoining the Hewes ranch. Vineyards became popular and were planted throughout Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside counties. Soon after the vineyards had come into bearing, a disease struck the grape vines, production fell off and vines were taken out. At first, it was hard to find a market in the east for California raisins, according to Hewes.

Prunes and olives were next planted on the Hewes ranch. Apricots and pears were also planted but these were taken out later. According to information secured from a history of the life of David Hewes, soon after the vineyards were planted, they produced at the rate of $400 an acre each year. When the land was cleared off again, it was valued at between $20 and $30 an acre.

Oranges, Lemons Planted.

After the prunes, apricots, olives and pears had been cleared from the land, it was improved again with orange and lemon groves.

From 1886 to 1888, there was an attempt to make El Modena the chief Quaker settlement in Southern California. The community built a comfortable and commodious church on land adjoining the Hewes estate. Hewes presented the church with a bell. Later, Whittier came into being and most of the Quakers left El Modena, although the church is still operated by Quakers in the town.

Book Tells History.

An interesting story of the beginning of El Modena is contained in a book telling of the life of David Hewes. It was prepared in 1913 and reads:

"Twenty years ago, before the selection of Whittier as headquarters for the Society of Friends in Southern California, those interested in the establishment of a colony of Friends selected as a desirable site, a tract of land north of and adjoining the ranch owned by Mr. David Hewes.

"This proposed town was called El Modena and several families settled there, in consequence of which Mr. Hewes donated land for school playgrounds, and presented a bell to the meeting house, as well as in other ways manifesting his interest in the project.

BUILDERS' QUERIES ANSWERED

By Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America

Q. Many cracks have appeared in the exterior walls of my new stucco bungalow. The stucco was applied on building felt and chicken wire. Will the wire be strong enough to put on another coat of stucco? There are now three coats on the building.

A. While you have not stated the size of the wire or the mesh used, we are of the opinion that another coat may be applied with perfect safety.

Q. Every time there is a hard rain, the water comes in from the top of the window frames and between the sash. Will you please advise me how this condition can be remedied?

A. Without first seeing the building and inspecting the windows, we are unable to advise you just how the condition may be remedied. However, we are of the opinion that if new flashing is put on with sufficient lap to cover the edge of the frame, you will have overcome the trouble to some extent, at least.

Q. As I have decided to engage a contractor to erect a six-room home for me, it will be appreciated if you will advise me if it is customary to make partial payments before the building has been completed, and if so, what is the usual practice? Should the total price be paid the contractor upon completion of the building? Should I have a contract?

A. Contractors demand that partial payments be made as the work progresses. The customary procedure is that 20 per cent be paid when the first floor joists are in place and rough lumber is on the job, the second 20 per cent when the building has been plastered, the fourth 20 per cent when the building has been completed and the fifth 20 per cent after the time has elapsed for filing mechanic's liens, which is 35 days after the notice of completion has been filed. The second question has already been answered. You should by all means have a written contract. You may secure a standard building contract, one that is issued by the American Institute of Architects, and approved by the Associated General Contractors of America, as well as other prominent building associations, from a reliable stationery store.

Q. Should a contract between a contractor and the owner be filed? If so, where?

A. Your building contract should by all means be recorded. This is done at the county recorder's office.

function of a city planning commission should be the diagnosis of our civic problems and the prescription of a remedy.

Santa Ana will continue to develop in some fashion, whether plans for the future are given adequate consideration or not, but with the advantages the town now has, it should become an outstanding example of what may be accomplished with the remarkable materials Nature has provided the average California town.

Many employees of the Hewes ranch have purchased land and built homes in the El Modena district. The subdivision of the Hewes estate is expected to add materially to the rapid development of the section.

Civic leaders of virtually every town in the state will attend the conference, according to announcements. City planning and the solution of city problems is the price of progress. Greater ORCHARD VALUES!

Land VALUES in Southern California, as elsewhere, are established by the PRODUCTION of those lands, and Orange County's citrus production has been such as to warrant prices of $5000 and $6000 per acre, paid by the most experienced growers.

Ranch COSTS are affected by all manner of human conditions, and once in a while there arises an opportunity to buy RANCH VALUES far greater for the money than at any other time. Such a situation now exists at the David Hewes Ranch, three miles east of Orange, where full-bearing Valencia orange and lemon groves are being sold, to close an estate, at prices much less than their value, judged from their production records.

The trees are largely full bearing; they have received the best of care, and the yields have been steadily increasing as the trees grow larger. The groves have been consistently fertilized, pruned, and fumigated and have already had their usual spring fertilization for this year.

Consistent good care has brought the production of these groves to a high average, so that the Valencia orange yield for the past three years shows an increase of 20 per cent over the STATE'S average, and a 7 per cent increase over the average of Orange County, which has the highest average yield of oranges in California.

The lemon groves of the David Hewes ranch estate are to a large extent relatively young trees, but the average production per acre is 21 per cent greater than the average for California and 10 per cent greater than the average for Orange County, which is one of the four coastal counties where lemons produce heaviest, especially during the summer months.

Thus it will be seen that the present prices of $1000 to $3000 per acre for Hewes ranch estate groves are exceedingly low compared to their PRODUCTION VALUE. Nowhere else in California can citrus groves carrying such tremendous crops be purchased at prices comparable to these. Lemons are picked every month in the year and the Valencia oranges are NOW ready to harvest; an IMMEDIATE return on your investment.

And the terms are only one-fourth cash, the balance arranged in convenient payments. There is a five per cent discount to those who build and an additional 5 per cent discount to those who may wish to pay all cash.

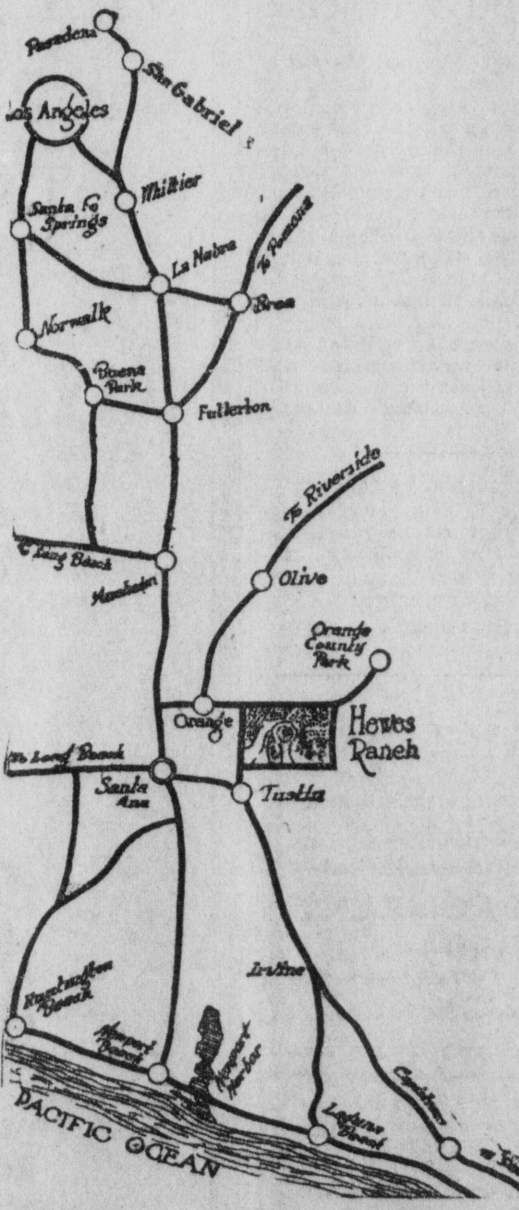

There is a double water supply for the entire ranch of nearly 700 acres; we have our own packing houses, and all the facilities required by a large ranch, so that we can continue to care for your grove until you are ready to build and assume its complete charge.

Drive out today, and see this beautiful ranch, where there is an income home tract awaiting you.

GROWING JUVENILE PROBLEM DRAWS ATTENTION TO NEED OF SCHOOL OF ETHICS COURSE

With a reported increase in juvenile problems, due, in a large measure, to unsatisfactory home conditions and unfavorable environments, the teaching of ethics, or morals and conduct, should be just as much a part of the school curriculum as chemistry, physics, history and languages, according to J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools.

In this connection, his attention has been invited to a measure recently introduced in the Massachusetts legislature, authorizing the inclusion of a course of ethics in the state schools. The "ethics bill," introduced by Roland D. Sawyer, provides that the state department of education shall give any city or town applying therefor a manual of ethical instruction for public schools. Said manual shall provide for instruction in the major moral mandates generally accepted by mankind and its use in the public schools shall be lawful at such times and for such periods as the school department of the city or town applying therefor shall determine.

Shouldn't Neglect Morals
According to the author of the measure, there is no reason for teaching the young the mathematics of Thales and Euclid and neglecting to teach them the ethics of Socrates and Aristotle. As a general rule, it is pointed out, while the student is taken with great precision through the courses dealing with the sciences of matter, mathematics and languages, he is left to flounder in a helpless confusion in the sciences of ethics, morals and philosophy.

The legislator does not agree with the stand taken by most educators that the subject of ethics and morals is too much a matter of opinion to be dealt with in positive fashion. Behind the differing shades of thought at the back of philosophical maxims and sayings, there lies a common body of concepts as to what constitutes good behavior and good citizenship. Love, justice, personal dignity, personal care, wisdom, courage, honesty and truthfulness, sincerity, work and service, kindness, modesty, gentleness, charity and religious faith of some sort, are well established as the great moral basis of human life, it is argued. The manual, as proposed by Representative Sawyer, would contain the concentrated essence of great minds of the past as well as of the present day in the form of maxims, sayings, verses, epigrams and other forms easily grasped by ordinary minds.

In his letter, transmitting a copy of the bill, the New England legislator says:

Result of Strike
"I have been at work on the idea since the Boston police strike, when we saw young people, who were from homes, from churches, from schools, go out of all bounds when the police strike took the officers from the streets. There is something wrong when we are allowing a generation to grow up without any personal restraints on their own lives—it was not so with ancient Greek or Hebrew or Roman. I am sure that there is a future for this idea. We can not teach religious tenets, but we can teach the agreed upon ethics of all religions and all wise men."

Superintendent Cranston's comment follows:
"Representative Sawyer's bill is timely and full of valuable suggestions and instructions to teachers. His twenty 'moral mandates' cover very completely the code of ethics for young people."

"While the teaching of morals and manners is, and has been required in the schools of California for many years, we have nothing from our state board of education in the way of a definite outline for our teachers to follow. The results have been indefinite and unsatisfactory. Working on Report

"At the present time, a committee, of which I am a member, appointed by the California Council of Education, is working on a report, which, it is hoped, will present something definite for our teachers to follow in the matter of teaching morals and manners, or in character training."

"In this, as in other respects, the home has failed and is failing to do its duty in instilling into the hearts and minds of our youth those virtues, which make for the highest types of manhood and womanhood. Representative Sawyer has hit upon the keynote in education, for the aim of all education should be the development of character."

Ancient Tombs In Russia Are Found

MOSCOW, April 29.—A series of subterranean galleries or catacombs has been discovered in the Province of Kharkoff, extending several miles underground. STUDENTS OF JOURNALISM TO ATTEND MEET

Six students of journalism in the Santa Ana polytechnic high school, who are members of the staff of "The Generator," are to attend the annual spring meeting of Southern California high school press delegates tomorrow, in Long Beach.

Miss Thelma Morehouse, editor, and Miss Eleanor Turner, assistant editor, are to act as official representatives for Santa Ana. The other delegates are Miss Ione Hanson, Miss Lucile Goodrich, Walter Chandler and Judson Riley.

One of the questions to be discussed at the press meeting is the choosing of a seal for the association, to be used by member school papers. Miss Morehouse is a member of the seal committee.

The awards for the best high school papers published in Southern California schools will be announced at the convention. Copies of "The Generator," entered in Class B, were submitted for judging several weeks ago. The Santa Ana paper last year won third place in its division.

Miss May E. Murphy, journalism instructor, is to attend the convention with the Santa Ana delegation. In a section meeting of the instructors, Miss Murphy is to talk on "Writing Heads."

MOTOR CARS CAUSE HEAVY DEATH TOLL

SACRAMENTO, April 29.—Speeders and criminally careless motorists killed or maimed 3807 persons in California during the first three months of 1926, the state division of motor vehicles announced.

Three hundred and sixty-seven drivers "took a chance" in one way or another and lost their lives in doing it. Eighty-two of these fatal crashes occurred in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Seriously injured victims numbered 1138, while 2302 others suffered less severe hurts.

More than one-half of all accidents occurred at intersections. Will H. Marsh, chief of the state division of motor vehicles, estimated that 90 per cent of the mishaps could have been avoided.

Boy Cheaper to Rear Than Girl

NEW YORK, April 28.—It costs $90 less to rear a boy to the age of 18 years than it does a girl, according to an insurance survey. The figures were: Girl, $6187; boy, $6077. It costs $2500 each to feed them. The cost of birth is placed at $250. The girl's clothing costs $1002, the boy's $912. That's where the difference comes in.

Fraud Order On Ponzi Issued In Land Syndicate

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Charles Ponzi, financial wizard of Massachusetts and Florida, was virtually put out of the real estate business when the postoffice department issued a fraud order against him and the Charpon Land syndicate of Florida.

Ponzi was selling $10 "unit of indebtedness" certificates, entitling the buyer to receive $30 cash or three $10 Florida lots at the end of 30 days.

Postal inspectors reported the scheme "inherently fraudulent and impossible of execution. The lots cost Ponzi 68 cents apiece."

Body pillars are of northern white ash, cross-members of hard maple. We pay a premium for the best steels.

Run the engine—the most powerful in any Sedan of its size and weight, according to the rating of the N. A. C. C. and the Society of Automotive Engineers. Its crankshaft is machined on all surfaces to eliminate vibration. The motor is not built for excessive speed, but rather for smooth, trouble-free service at 5 to 55 miles an hour. It is built for a long, quiet life—not for spectacular stunts.

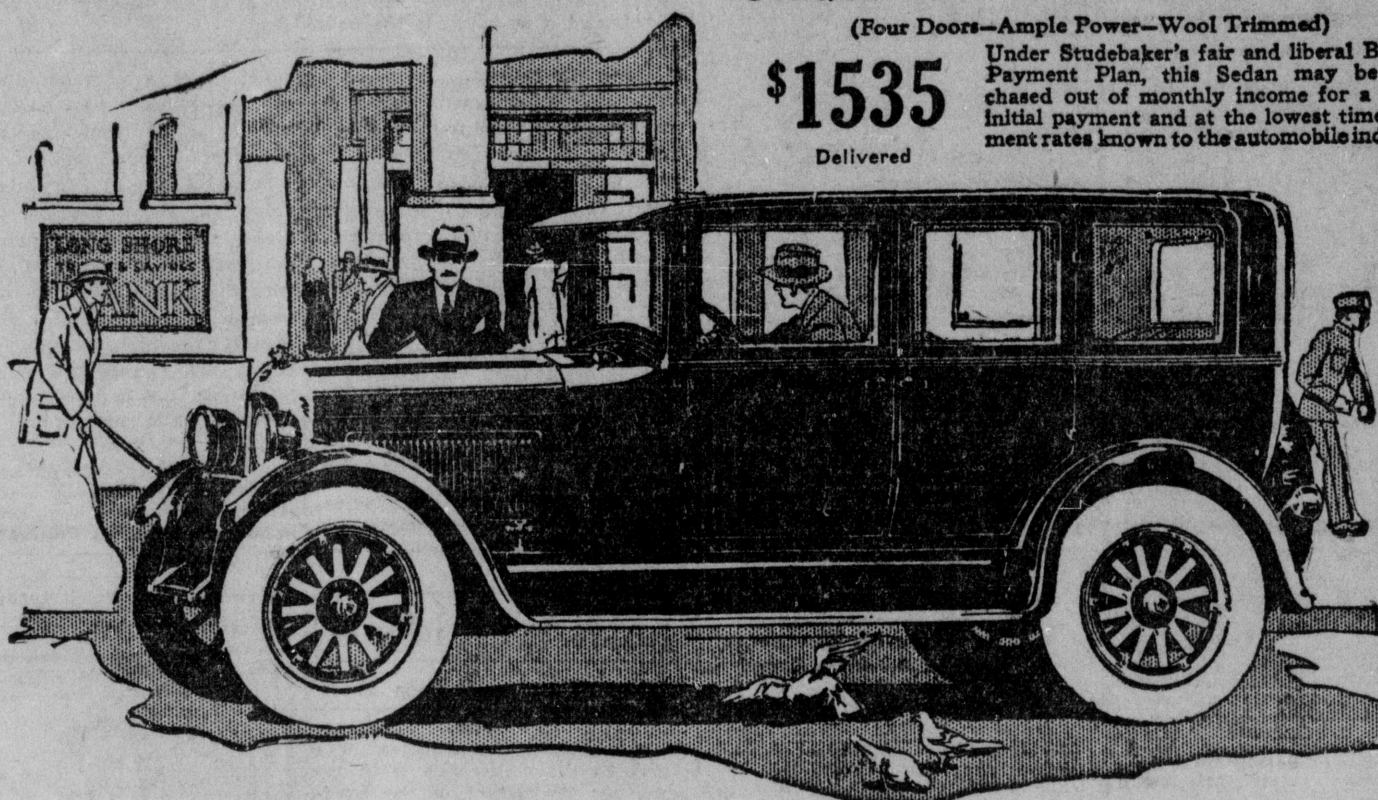

Come in—test its performance—power—comfort—then realize that you can buy it out of income for the lowest price Studebaker ever placed on a Sedan, and at the lowest time-payment rates known to the automobile industry.

Under Studebaker's fair and liberal Budget Payment Plan, this Sedan may be purchased out of monthly income for a small initial payment and at the lowest time-payment rates known to the automobile industry.

Anaheim—Fullerton—Huntington Beach—Orange—Santa Ana

Main Street

Convincing reasons to prove the supremacy of Main Street, as Santa Ana's greatest street from the viewpoint of both merchant and investor may be summed up in Traffic and the healthy, increasing activity in Main Street real estate.

Figures obtained by the California Highway Commission by checkers at Main Street and Chapman Avenue, last July, showed an average Sunday motor traffic of 11,163 cars, meaning at least 44,652 persons. A daily average of 7,743 cars, or 30,972 persons.

Realty sales in the past six weeks on Main Street tread closely on the trail of One-Half Million Dollars. Almost twenty-five per cent of this stupendous sum figured in two deals closed in the past two weeks. First, the purchase of the N. E. corner of 6th and Main by the Orange County Bond and Mortgage company; second, the sale of the 30-foot Kasemann frontage at 305 N. Main, now occupied by the Union Pacific ticket office.

It will surprise you to ride up and down Main Street. Note the traffic. See the many new buildings going up and the many old ones being remodeled. Look at the high character and up-to-the-minute appearance of the stores and shops—so diversified in lines as to guarantee 100% service to the shoppers.

The men who conduct these various concerns invite a share of your patronage—invite you to join the happy, satisfied army of patrons they have already won over to Main Street

GRUNION IN HAND IS WORTH TWO IN SEA, SCRIBE BLURBS; NEXT 'HUNT' SET FOR FRIDAY

By E. MERLE HUSSONG

There are certain words that are meaningful. Two of them are "grunion hunt." Of course, grunion hunt doesn't mean the same as
"so is your old man," but there must be some connection somewhere.
The next grunion hunt is scheduled for Friday night.

I have something to say about the gentle art of stalking the grunion. I went on one of those sneaks over the top, nets with tiny mesh and big baskets in which to deposit the expected grunion.

Came dawn stealing over the purple hills, as the movie title boys blurb. We had no grunion. Our shanks matched the color of the aforesaid hills.

And that, my children, is a story of a grunion hunt. It is expected that thousands will line the seashore tomorrow night in quest of same, that is grunion, not huns.

And the moon, ah "moon of my delight," may she beam down upon the scene for more than five minutes at a sitting.

Otherwise, I will stick to my radio. Incidentally, grunion may be purchased at the markets just like any other fish, or what have you?

No Moon, No Fish

We had been informed that all one had to do in hunting grunion was to stand in the surf and pick up the fish. But in order to be sure of good luck, the hunt must be "consummated" in the light of the moon. No moon, no fish, all the same planting potatoes.

Now the luna on this occasion was a bit shy about poking her visage through the clouds. Every now and then she would peep through for a moment and then the clouds would hide her.

When the moon would show, we scampered into the surf and poked our hands into the surf in the hope that the little rascals would rap our knuckles and hide between our fingers. Of course, all this time the surf was surging around our nude limbs. The surf was cold and it moved with great celerity.

When the moon went back into hiding, we ran from the surf to get warm around the bonfire.

This process was continued for some time, too much time, in fact.
Others around us evidently had little faith in our own particular method of ensnaring the fish; they had brought along boxes with sneaks over the top, nets with tiny

mesh and big baskets in which to deposit the expected grunion.

Came dawn stealing over the
purple hills, as the movie title boys
blurb. We had no grunion. Our shanks matched the color of the aforesaid hills.

And that, my children, is a story
of a grunion hunt. It is expected that thousands will line the seashore tomorrow night in quest of same, that is grunion, not huns.

And the moon, ah "moon of my delight," may she beam down upon
the scene for more than five minutes at a sitting.

Otherwise, I will stick to my radio. Incidentally, grunion may be purchased at the markets just like any other fish, or what have you?

Urges More Pay for Police

Editor Register: Without casting any reflection on the members of the present force, I want to say that the city of Santa Ana cannot expect to keep competent men on the police force on the salary basis of today.

Starting with a wage of $115 per month, a policeman may increase his salary each year by continuous service up to four years, when he can expect only a maximum of $145 a month.

Out of this wage the policeman must provide his own uniform and equipment, the initial cost being $45 for a uniform, $35 for a revolver, $9 for handcuffs, $2 for a flashlight, $2 for a billy, and $5 for belt, holster and ammunition, a total of $98.50 that must be spent out of the first month's salary. The uniform has to be replaced at intervals.

Can we expect to keep honest, efficient men on the force when we pay them less than the average common laborer is earning today?
I do not believe we can.

Past history of the local department reveals that men who have been efficient in their work have been "picked" by other communities which pay their officers a better wage.

Isn't there some plan the council can adopt that will make more money available for salaries for our police force? I am a taxpayer and I would be more than happy to bear my share of an increased tax necessary to place more money in the city funds for this use.

W. H. TIPPETT.

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, April 29.—Mrs. J. A.
Murphy was surprised upon the event of her 63rd birthday anniversary by members of her family, who came in to spend the evening with her, bringing a quantity of ice cream and birthday cake. Present were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murphy Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bean and daughter, Betty Jean, Arthur Murphy, Miss Ella Murphy and the honoree, Mrs. J. A. Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Grana and son, Peter Grana, motored Sunday to Los Angeles, where they were entertained as dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Grana's sister.

Miss Annette Taylor, of Hemet, is down for a few days and is a visitor in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lewis.
Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Lewis and Miss Taylor attended the White Shrine circle meeting at the home of Mrs. Wallace in Santa Ana.

Mrs. Amanda Arnold, who has been ill at Mrs. Lester E. Barry's home, left Tuesday for her home at Lynchfield, Ill., making the trip in a stateroom min the care of two friends.

Lima bean planting is expected to commence in this section about the first week in May and the ranchers are putting the finishing work on their ground. Present weather is too cloudy for bean planting, as the cut worms and other pests, dangerous to successful bean culture, thrive in this weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hell entertained Mrs. Hell's mother, Mrs.
Minnie Allen, her sister, Miss Cleo
Allen, and her brother, William Allen, as Sunday dinner guests in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Groves are entertaining as house guests,
Mr. Groves' brother, Ted Groves, Mrs. Groves and Mrs. Groves' mother. They are from Illinois, and arrived Monday in Smeltzer, following an extended motor trip which took them up into Canada and through the Dakotas.
The arrival of the travelers was entirely unexpected, as Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Groves had not been informed of the contemplated trip.
The visitors may decide to locate in California.

Mrs. George Applebury left Tuesday for Alhambra to visit a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Jackson.

Miss Merle Parr and Miss Ella Murphy of this place attended the recent Christian Endeavor convention at El Modena.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Melvin attended on Friday the funeral of Mrs. Melvin's mother in Santa Ana.
Mrs. Charles Parr, Mrs. L. E.
Barry and Mrs. J. A. Murphy attended the all day meeting of the Happy Workers' society at the social hall in Westminster on Wednesday.

J. A. Murphy was a Sunday visitor in his home, returning the same evening to Los Angeles, where he is employed.

Bobby Hell, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hell, dislocated a leader in his neck Tuesday and remained that night in Santa Ana with his grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Allen.

PLACENTIA COP RESIGNS IN ROW

PLACENTIA, April 29.—As the result of complaints lodged by a group of Mexicans, W. M. Bowl-din, Placentia officer, has resigned.
According to the Mexicans, Bowl-din was unnecessarily severe with Francisco Acosta, whom he arrested on a charge of intoxication.

Acosta was said to have been badly injured from blows over the head with a pistol butt. Bowl-din's story is that the Mexican showed fight and that a Los Angeles police officer, who was passing, struck Acosta with his gun butt in assisting in placing Acosta under arrest.

CORPORATION

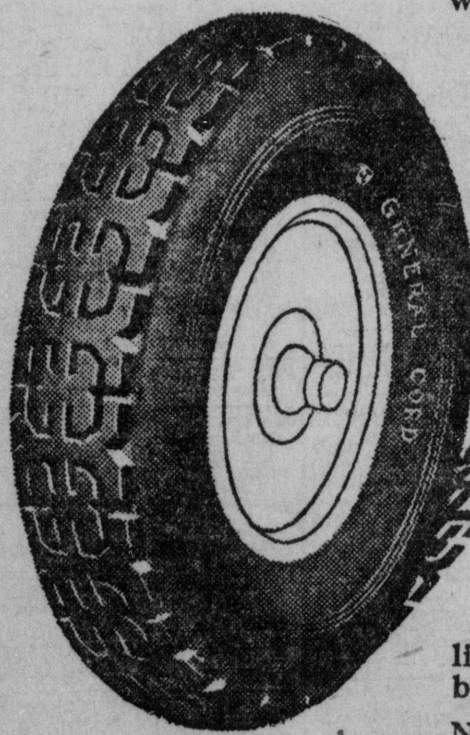

Foreword

It is because we are fortunate in having a tire of the highest possible quality, outstanding and beyond comparison in the industry, a tire without an ounce of reclaimed rubber in either carcass or tread, that we are celebrating with a special Trade-in Sale—making it easy for hundreds of new customers to get started with Generals now, to get acquainted with the tire that will make them satisfied customers of ours for all time.

During our Special Trade-in Sale General's extra miles are free

Whether you have a few hundred or several thousand miles left in your old tires, it will pay you to attend our Trade-in Sale. The special advantages the General Tire gives you, such as low-pressure comfort, car protection and motor power and gasoline saving, are just half of the bargain. For with our Trade-in Sale, the extra mileage that is built into General Tires, over and beyond what you expect from ordinary tires, is free mileage that you can collect by just driving your car up to the store during this Trade-in Sale. We give you a decided advantage over today's tire prices, for during this sale we are offsetting the cost by making special allowances on your present tire equipment.

We are taking into consideration the fact that when the high cost of rubber caused tire prices to rise, it also increased the value of the tires on your car. So your present tires will never be worth more to you than now. Cash in on that increased value by trading in those old tires now. Every type of General Tire, all sizes of low-pressure cords as well as balloons, included in this big event.

Our Trade-in Sale shows you the economical way to start running on Generals; to get acquainted with tires that will hold your patronage and good-will for life by sheer merit of unmatched quality, comfort and by delivering the longest mileage ever heard of in a tire.

No matter how much or how little your present tires have been used, it will pay you to come.

LENGLEN TOUR PUZZLES U. S. TENNIS BOARD

Major League baseball this season offers a number of most interesting problems that will compel the attention of those fans who are not merely concerned with bare scores. Interest naturally will follow the attempts of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Washington Senators to defend their championships and the efforts of the New York Giants, the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Yankees to get into the world's series.

With two or more fairly evenly matched clubs battling for the pennants in the big leagues, there will be enough to occupy the attention of studious fans but there are other sources of interest as well.

What will Babe Ruth do? What effect will the use of resin have in the National League? How many young ball players will make the grade?

Despite the ups and downs that he has been through, Babe Ruth is still the most spectacular figure in baseball and he will be watched more than ever this season. The fans who fought for a touch of his garments when he was the big king will strive just as hard for a place near his bier when his end comes.

The Babe is in actual danger of his fame, his pay and his job this year. He is no longer the Yankee baseball team. He is just an outfielder on a team with several colorful youngsters who will steal his place in the affection of the fans as soon as he fails to deliver.

Ruth has been a poor business man but he was shrewd enough to know that it was strictly a business proposition for him to play Ruth baseball this season. The $52,000 contract, which expires this season, was given to him for being Babe Ruth and even the big hearted Col. Jake Ruppert will not renew a $52,000 a year contract for an outfielder who can be replaced at any time by Ben Paschal and Nick Cullop who can play just as well and hit as well as the Babe has been hitting recently.

The Yankees, during the height of the Babe's glory were a colorless ball club. But they are not a colorless club now. In Tony Lazzeri, Mark Koenig and Lou Gehrig, the team has three spectacular players who also have that appeal to the stands that baseball knows as color.

Oak Pitcher Hurt As Team Rallies

OAKLAND, April 29.—While their winning pitcher was lying in the clubhouse with a supposedly broken leg, Oakland edged into a 4 to 3 ninth inning victory over the San Francisco Missions. "Hub" Pruett, the injured pitcher, collided with Umpire Jack Carroll while going from second to third. Examination showed the leg to be only wrenched.

LOCKE TO TRY FOR NEW RECORD IN 100

LINCOLN, Neb., April 29.—Gordon Locke, Nebraska dash star, who clipped off the 100 yard dash in an unofficial 9.5 seconds last week in the Drake relays, will make another record attempt this week in a dual meet between the University of Nebraska and the University of Missouri.

"Locke will break the record," Coach Schulte, of the Nebraska team, said today. "I am confident he is the fastest human in the world."

University authorities are planning to have official A. A. U. scorers here to catch Locke's time as he completes the century.

TROUT SEASON S. A. TO ENTER OPENS IN CAL. TEAM IN FAST NEXT SATURDAY INDOOR LEAGUE

Ladies and gentlemen of piscatorial tendencies or in plain, unvarnished American, fishermen and fisherwomen, will see themselves to the streamsides and lakesides this week-end to enjoy the opening of the trout season. The season, in almost all sections of California, opens May 1, one hour before sunrise which Saturday comes at 6:04 a. m. Thus, the season will officially open at 4:04 a. m.

There will be better fishing this year than in 1925—that's one point on which all anglers are agreed. Late rains provided plenty of water and while there may not be more fish caught during opening the season will last considerably longer than usual.

After a dry winter the smaller streams and creeks are useless for fishing purposes early in the summer, but this year there should be trout fishing everywhere except in the most accessible creeks, which will be fished out opening day, until the open season legally closes.

Trout Larger Now
The hoof and mouth disease which played havoc with the cattle of the state has, in the long run, proved a boon to fishermen. Many districts were entirely closed to fishing for some months and the trout thereby got an opportunity to grow. There should be some big ones taken out this season in addition to the usual quota of "fish that got away."

Many a basket of fine trout will be yanked out of lakes and streams in the San Bernardino, San Diego and San Jacinto mountains. In the opinion of Victor Walker, local fish and game expert. Big and Little Bear lakes, always popular with local anglers, should afford some excellent fishing. Walker believes, while Cuyamaca, Marino and Sweetwater lakes in San Diego county are "ripe" for big catches to those who prefer to trek southward after their share. Marino lake is said to be stocked heavily with bass right now.

Many Santa Ana anglers will try the San Bernardino mountain streams opening day and all indications are that their efforts will be rewarded. The Upper Santa Ana river district may be reached by taking the Mill Creek road to the second control. The Seven Oaks and the South fork regions should yield this share of trout.

Bear Creek Popular
Bear creek, reached via Clark's ranch; City creek, reached by the City creek road; Deep creek and Mojave creek and the tributaries of these streams all will prove popular with local trout seekers.

Dark canyon streams and Mill creek, reached via Banning, are said to be the best trout waters in the San Jacinto mountains although Strawberry creek, Herkey creek and the South fork of the San Jacinto, reached through Hemet, have reputations as good fishing ground too.

Santa Barbara boasts some of the finest trout streams in the state. The famous Sespe is said to be the best in the Santa Barbara-Ventura region although the Santa Ynez and the lake at the head of this stream offer good catches for those who prefer to pack in. The tributaries of the Santa Ynez also are good.

San Diego county has some fine streams for trout angling. Boulder and Deer creeks are well thought of while Cedar creek, accessible on fine roads through Pine Hills lodge, is said to be one of the most beautiful in the state.

The Senators gave Witte, a rookie pitcher, a fine belting and beat the Red Sox, 5 to 2.

Definite steps to place a Santa Ana team in the fast Southern California Indoor Baseball league, which will begin its schedule about June 17, have been taken and final arrangements will be made toward forming the club personnel after a few weeks of the City league season, it was learned here today.

Players who make the best showing in the local circuit probably will be selected to wear the Santa Ana team's colors in the big-time loop, it was understood.

An organization meeting of the Southern California league was held at the Whittier Chamber of Commerce. Applications were received and representatives, or proxies, presented from the following cities: Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange, Santa Ana, Whittier, Montebello, Los Angeles and Hollywood. It was also announced that Brea contemplated placing a team in the circuit.

William M. Cathrine, prominent Whittier newspaperman and recreational worker, was unanimously elected president of the league. William Charles of Montebello was named secretary.

The Southern California league is divided into two divisions, the coast and inland. The cities represented at last night's meeting are listed in the coast division. The inland division includes Riverside, Corona, Ontario, Redlands and Arlington. Pomona was a member last year but will not place a team in the league this year, it was reported.

An entry fee of $3 per team was voted by the coast division representatives. This is to cover the actual expenses of the secretary. Home teams will defray the expense of the games on their own diamonds. Visiting teams will pay their own expenses.

TIERNANS RALLY, DEFEAT LONG BEACH, 11-10

Scoring five runs in the last inning, the Tiernan Typewriter company indoor ball team changed all most certain defeat into a 11 to 10 victory over the Long Beach Stars at Lincoln park here last night.

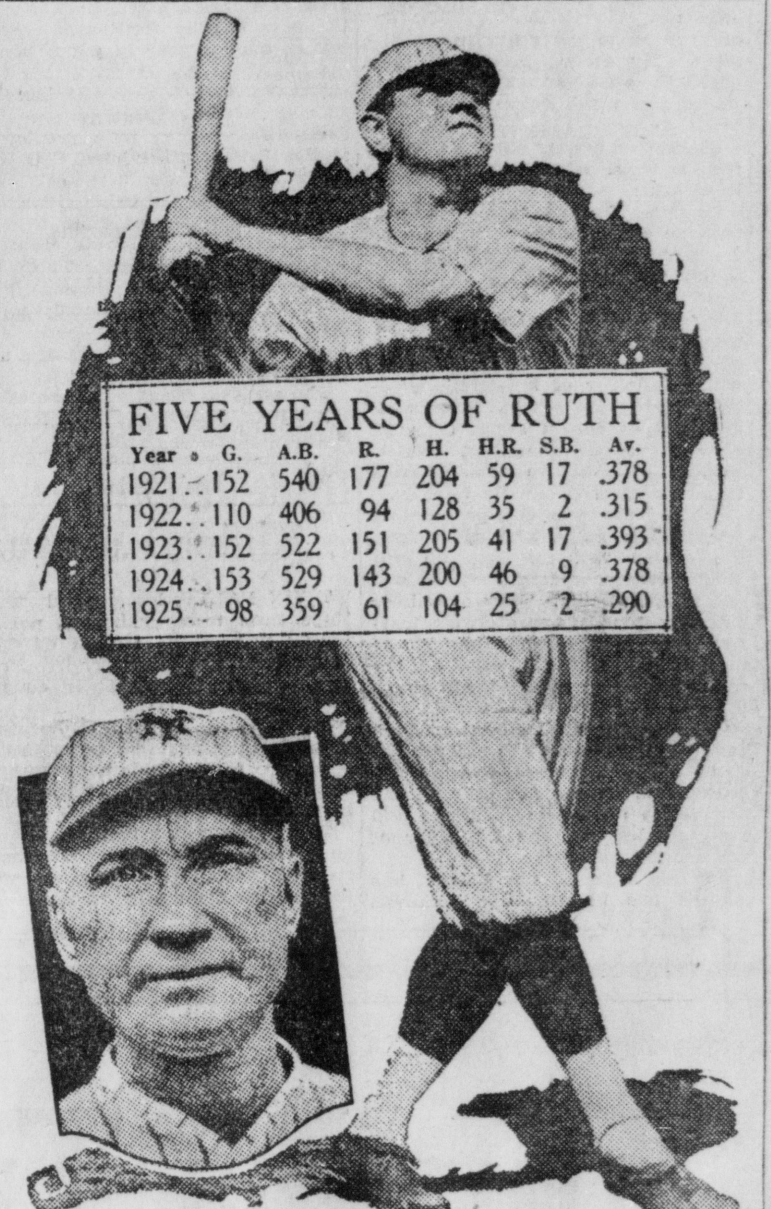

The visitors solved Tom Hitt's curves too often with the result that they had a 9 to 6 lead at the end of the eighth. The scoring rampage for the Santa Ana players was started in the last by Smith who connected safely. "Rudy" Rame followed with another safe blow. George Preble was put out but E. Hitt, T. Hitt and Holmes made the circuit of the bases to bring in enough runs for a victory.

The box score:
Santa Ana A.B.R.H. Long Beach A.B.R.H.
Romo, 1st 5 3 2 Elliot, 1st 5 0 3
Preble, 2nd 4 1 0 Cray, 1st 5 1 2

CITY LEAGUE TEAMS IN ACTION TONIGHT

Play in the Santa Ana City Indoor Baseball league will be resumed at 7:30 o'clock tonight when the Southern Counties Gas company and the Tiernan Typewriter company squads tangle. This will be the third contest of the week. Wayne Nelson will pitch for the "gas-house" gang while Tommy Hitt probably will get the call for the typewriter salesmen.

HUGH JENNINGS SAYS BABE'S CIRCUIT DRIVE RECORD SAFE

BABE RUTH AND (INSET) HUGHIE JENNINGS

As Babe Ruth goes, so go the Yankees.

That has been a popular belief in New York ever since the Bambino became the sensation of the baseball world because of his feats of slugging.

In 1921 and 1922 Ruth failed to hit in the world series with the Giants, despite his great work during the regular season. The Yankees were defeated both times.

During the 1923 clash between the two New York clubs for the world championship, Ruth featured with his hitting. The Yankees won.

Last season, for the first time in his major league career as a regular player, Ruth fell below the .300 mark in batting. It was his worst year, due to illness and injuries. The Yankees finished seventh.

Ruth is through was the opinion expressed by most of the experts at the close of the season. During the winter Ruth began a period of intensive training and reported for spring work in the best condition of his career.

Can Ruth come back? That has been the most talked-about topic in baseball as a result of the press-agenting Ruth's winter training stunts got him.

Still Talks Baseball
Hughie Jennings, who despite the fact is fighting for his life in a southern sanitarium, still has plenty of time to talk baseball. Hughie is one of the many authorities who believes the Babe will never again come close to breaking his home run record of 59 circuit drives.

"While Ruth is a logical .300 hitter and fell below that mark last season because of illness and injuries, I don't look for him to come close to his home run mark," said Jennings recently. "I am inclined to think that 35 home runs will be the most made by any batter in either of the major leagues this year. It may even fall below that mark."

"There is no doubt but that the ball has been slowed down considerably. This is unfortunate for Ruth in his drive to come back as the premier home run hitter of the majors."

COUNTRY CLUB COMMITTEEMEN ARE ANNOUNCED

Personnel of Santa Ana Country club committees for the coming year were announced today by H. B. Van Dien, newly elected president of the local golfing organization. Committees and their memberships follow:

Auditing committee — J. W. Tubbs, chairman; C. E. Downie and R. A. Emison.
Greens committee — W. E. Childson, chairman; V. V. Tubbs and George B. Shattuck.
Membership committee — A. W. Griffith, chairman; E. B. Collier and Frank L. Purinton.
Handicap and Tournament committee — C. G. Twist, chairman; George Jeffrey and R. D. Crenshaw.
By-Laws and Legal committee — George B. Shattuck, chairman and A. W. Rutan.
Publicity committee — J. A. George, Mason Yould and Eddie West.

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's Hero—Felix, Brooklyn outfielder, singled in the ninth inning and drove in the run that beat the Braves, 5 to 4.

The Yankees, after being held scoreless through seven innings, knocked "Lefty" Groves out of the box in the eighth and beat the Athletics, 3 to 0.

The Indians knocked Jonnard out of the box and flopped the Browns, 7 to 3.
Jack Wisner, one of McGraw's rookie pitchers, made his first start of the season for the Giants and stopped the Phillies, 5 to 2.
O'Farrell's homer in the ninth inning with one on enabled the Cards to beat the Reds, 2 to 3.
Thomas, one of the young White Sox pitchers, issued nine passes and hit one batter, but the Tigers couldn't hit him and lost, 9 to 4.

RED GRANGE'S MANAGER SIGNS STAR FOR FILM

Then Asks Association for Permission to Schedule Court Matches for Her

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 29.—Officials of the United States Lawn Tennis association are frankly puzzled by a problem attending the application for permission to bring Miss Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis queen, here this summer for a series of exhibition matches.

C. C. Pyle, business manager for "Red" Grange, told the association he had signed Miss Lenglen to a movie contract and would like to get a permit to arrange an exhibition tour under the auspices of the association.

He was told that he would not need official permission to bring her to this country any more than Helen Wills, American champion, needed official approval for her trip to France.

Pyle said he preferred to co-operate in every way with the association to protect the French star from any complications that might arise. He was told that the association would consider the application at the next meeting of the advisory committee.

If Miss Lenglen would consent to engage in tournaments or compete in the national championships, the association would jump at the chance to sponsor her second invasion of the United States, but Pyle said he did not care to engage in anything but exhibition matches.

If the association accepted these terms, there would be the attending obligation to get opponents for her and the officials feel that Helen Wills and Molla Mallory are the only Americans equipped with a game to test her.

Surprising New Discovery Grows Hair, Stops Dandruff or Money Back!

Modern science has made the sensational discovery that gasoline—the highest grade—has a hair tonic. Gasoline alone has two important qualities which are of immeasurable benefit to the hair. First, it is extremely penetrating and cuts and dissolves all dried and hardened scalp oil and suffocating dandruff. Second, it contains the essential beneficial ingredients of kerosene—an old time proven scalp treatment but extremely objectionable—being greasy and sticky.

Gasoline as a base for Cocotone Hair Tonic quickly penetrates to the hair roots and acts as a vehicle which carries other very high-priced and wonderfully effective ingredients to the point needed—the follicle or hair bulb. Dandruff and scalp eczema vanish like magic. It quickly stops falling hair. Cocotone contains no alcohol.

Cocotone produces a tingling to the scalp—creates a rush of new healthy blood carrying much needed nourishment to the hair. In time a new luxuriant growth of glossy hair appears. If the hair roots are not dead, in nearly all cases the root is not dead but dormant—choked with dandruff and hardened scalp oils. Thousands of tests have proven that Cocotone will do as claimed—that's why we make an unlimited guarantee of satisfaction or money back—no ifs or ands—you are the judge.

Cocotone is very popular as a hair dressing. Makes the hair glossy and is not greasy or sticky. Does not plaster down the hair but makes it stay combed. Price $1.00 per bottle all good druggists.

THIS COUPON WORTH 25c
To introduce this GUARANTEED HAIR GROWER C. S. Kelley, the druggist, will accept this coupon. The cash. Pay the difference—75c—and receive 1 regular $1.00 bottle of Cocotone Hair Tonic.

EVEN SENATOR BORAH BACKS UP IN DEBATE

By C. B. DODDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Even Senator Borah stumbled occasionally. The senator's premier debater made a bold statement during the recent debate on the Italian debt and was forced to back up on it later, which he did with his trusty pencil in correcting the reporter's notes of the debate.

The matter probably would have remained unnoticed were it not for Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, who called to the attention of the senate the editorial change made by the Idaho senator.

Senator Reed had been chiding Borah for what he termed an inconsistent attitude. What actually was said, according to the reporter's notes at the time, follows:

"Mr. Reed of Pennsylvania. Mr. President, the senator did not feel that way last March when my motion to table was before the senate.

"Mr. Borah. The senator from Pennsylvania may be assured, as the record will show, that I have never sat silent when a motion to table has been made. I have always voted against the proposition to lay anything upon the table. It is a universal record of mine here, and the senator cannot challenge it."

The record the next morning was slightly different, giving Senator Borah's answer as follows:

"Mr. Borah. The senator from Pennsylvania may be assured, as the record will show, that I have repeatedly protested when a motion to table has been made. It has been my rule to vote against the proposition to lay anything on the table. My record here will show that I have all but universally protested and voted against the practice."

As a concluding shot and with just a trace of triumph, Senator Reed said:

"I think I owed that to myself because without that in the record the subsequent proceedings of yesterday were unintelligent."

There are tricks in all trades, even in congress. That great body of men, which has been wrestling with a number of important problems during the present session, is also tied up into a series of knots on some minor questions, which, though less important, are nevertheless contested equally bitterly.

One of these is the proposal to remove the gates and piers from the street running between the White House and the state, war and navy building. They have been there for generations, blocking traffic, huge granite and iron blocks that stand in the middle of the street and force vehicles into single file lines in passing the gates. For several sessions of congress, bills have been introduced to remove the gates and their piers, causing acrimonious debate not only in the committee on public buildings and grounds, but also on the floor of the senate and house.

In this session, the house has passed the bill for the removal.

The senate committee has reported favorably a similar bill. When the house bill came to the senate a zealous clerk put it on the calendar of the senate without going through the formality of referring it to a committee. This was a little trick which might have passed unnoticed, were it not for the keen eye of Senator Jones, of Washington.

When the bill was reached on the calendar, Senator Jones moved that it go over, saying furthermore he wanted to know how it got on the calendar. "It does not appear to have been reported by a committee and has not even been referred to a committee," he said.

Senator Fernald and Senator Willis both attempted to explain how it happened, but not to the satisfaction of the senate, which voted that the bill must take its normal course and be referred to a committee.

The "removalists" won a partial victory, however, because they succeeded in having the bill referred to the committee on public buildings and grounds, which is favorable to the bill, rather than to the District of Columbia committee, which is opposed to it.

Secretaries to senators and congressmen are making their annual effort to obtain an allowance from congress for traveling expenses to their homes. Each year the matter is brought up and in the past discarded by influential members of the appropriations committees of the house and senate.

Secretaries of eastern states don't care so much about the traveling allowance, but the western men and particularly the Pacific coast secretaries feel the burden heavily. It is this very fact that has probably prevented action heretofore inasmuch as it was only the secretaries and senators from the west who have shown any degree of interest in the matter. The indifference of the eastern men has made it impossible for favorable action.

The pending proposal is to pay one clerk of each senator and congressman mileage on the basis of 10 cents a mile for traveling expenses once a year in going home.

Nevada and Idaho will have a shortage of irrigation water this summer, according to a prediction of the U. S. weather bureau. Owing to the lack of snow in the territory tributary to the Columbia river, the bureau also predicted there will be no flood on the Columbia river at the usual time this June. The winter over the entire Columbia river drainage basin was unusually mild. Precipitation was everywhere deficient and much more than the usual precipitation was rain.

The outlook for storage water in Wyoming, Arizona and New Mexico is reported good.

Bride Jailed for Killing Husband

TWIN FALLS, Ida., April 29.—More than nine grains of poison were found in the viscera of Carl Crumroy, Rupert farmer, Dr. Herman Walters, Twin Falls county chemist, has reported.

Crumroy died last November following the payment of $2,000 life insurance to the widow, Crumroy's two brothers asked that the body be exhumed.

The widow was arrested and held on a charge of murder. Her marriage to Crumroy two years ago was the result of a matrimonial agency correspondence.

GIRL PROMISES SHE WILL JOIN LOVER IN EXILE

PARIS, April 28.—The deportation, after conviction for repeated swindles, of a former captain in the French army, who won the cross of the Legion of Honor and military medal for valor on the field of battle, has brought to light a story of faithful devotion on the part of a woman who shared the former officer's fortunes in his prosperous days.

A few hours before the hour fixed for the embarkation of the 340 convicts recently put aboard La Martinique, a beautiful young woman, wearing a fine fur coat and most expensive pearl necklace, arrived at the gates of St. Martin's penitentiary.

She applied to Governor Leroux for permission to marry her soldier sweetheart before his departure for Cayenne. This was refused, according to law, but she was informed that she might join her lover in exile. She took up her post beside a row of soldiers near the lighter aboard which the convicts were embarked.

When the former captain came into sight her face went hard and set, as she shrieked above the roar of the breakers against the stone pier:

"I will join you before six weeks." The man, who had endured four years of trenches and open warfare with fortitude, staggered at the sound of the voice, halted, wavering as if about to fall. Then, with a look of love and gratitude, he squared his shoulders and threw the girl a kiss. Then, without hesitation, he descended into the hold of the floating prison.

Japanese Plane Mail Is Planned

KOBE, April 29.—The Kawanishi Aviation company, of Japan, a Kobe firm that maintains a regular air route between Osaka and Fukuoka, is planning experimental flights over a period of a year between Osaka and Dairen and Shanghai, with a view to the establishment of a regular mail service.

An application for permission to engage in this project has been filed with the department of communications. Due to the fact that the Shanghai flights involve international problems, the authorities of the company have asked the assistance of the foreign office.

The company wishes to start the flights over the Dairen-Osaka line. Two different routes will be tried out. The Osaka-Shanghai flight is proposed by way of Fukuoka, Kumamoto, Ariake Bay, Kiura and Shanghai, about 1700 kilometers in all. A round trip will be made once a month on all three routes. Each flight will consume about nine hours.

Eddie Martin, using Macmillan Gasoline takes First Honors at Brea Air Meet.....

"Macmillan is the gasoline for me" said Eddie Martin, in commenting on the results of the Air Meet Saturday. "Its absolute freedom from water, and smooth continuous power make it the most dependable gasoline I have ever used."

First in the High Speed Free for All—First in the Sport Plane Race—First in the Free for All Stunt Contest—Second in the Jenny Scramble—Over one third of the prize money offered—The silver cup given by the Anaheim Elks Club.

That tells the story of Eddie Martin's sensational victories in the Brea Air-meet Saturday; that tells the story as the spectators saw it. But there is another story, more vivid than the spectacular sweep of planes as they were driven on to victory or defeat. There is the story of long hours of labor in the oil fields—there is the story of the careful refining process in the refinery—then there is the story of the laboratory, where men work night and day, forever testing gasoline. In brief—there is the story of the manufacture of Macmillan Gasoline, that High Grade Motor Fuel which, while behind the scenes in Saturday's drama, yet played an important role.

In the Free-For-All-Speed Contest, flying low to the ground and at a terrific speed, where a moment's hesitancy on the part of the motor would have spelled disaster, in the death defying stunt contest—where smooth continuous power was essential—in every event entered by Eddie Martin, Macmillan Gasoline was that silent participant that furnished smooth continuous power—that power that lead him on to taking chances which no other Aviator would take, those chances which lead to an ultimate victory.

The same Macmillan Gasoline which Eddie Martin relies upon for the safe and continuous operation of his Aeroplane motors is sold by dozens of Independent Macmillan Dealers. Experience the same feeling of confidence in motor operation that he has experienced—fill up your tank today.

substitutes if you seek the famous Quaker flavor

THE point to remember when buying breakfast oats is that only Quaker Oats have the rich Quaker flavor that you want.

One package of oats without that flavor may spoil your breakfasts for a week.

The price you pay is the same. Thus "trying" a substitute is a folly. Quaker flavor is the result of some 50 years milling experience. No other oats has it. Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed.

Get Quick Quaker, which cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, or regular Quaker Oats as you have always known.

LIONS PRESENT FUN PROGRAM FOR KIWANIS

Eight snappy Lions put on a snappy program for the Kiwanis club at its meeting, yesterday, at St. Ann's Inn, and demonstrated to Kiwanians some of the fast and furious fun that marks most meetings of the Lions club of this city.

The group from the Santa Ana den consisted of Harold Wahlberg, president of the club; Rex Kennedy, program chairman; D. H. Betten, assistant chairman; Dr. Elliott H. Rowland, Lyle (Andy) Anderson, Fred Wilde and Bruce Munroe, the latter four composing the Lions club quartet and E. M. Sundquist, accompanist.

The quartet opened the program with the selection "Then I'll Be Happy."

Earl P. Daniels, a friend of Anderson, followed with a solo, "Friend of Mine." Wahlberg offered greetings from his club and commented on the service clubs and their influence in the community. He characterized them as derelicts for pulling individuals out of ruts.

Betten handled a feature of the program in which he tested the knowledge of members of the Kiwanis club as to the names and classification of members. Duplicate numbers were passed on slips of papers and, as the members were called, the two men holding corresponding numbers were given just eight seconds in which to identify each other. Several paid fines because they could not make good.

The special program was concluded by the quartet.

Kennedy emceed the session with clever remarks and by springing jokes on members of the host club.

Following the program, J. P. Baumgartner expressed the sentiment of the club when he voiced his appreciation of the spirit of friendship evidenced by the entertaining club in putting over what he declared to have been a program seldom if ever duplicated in past meetings of the Kiwanis club.

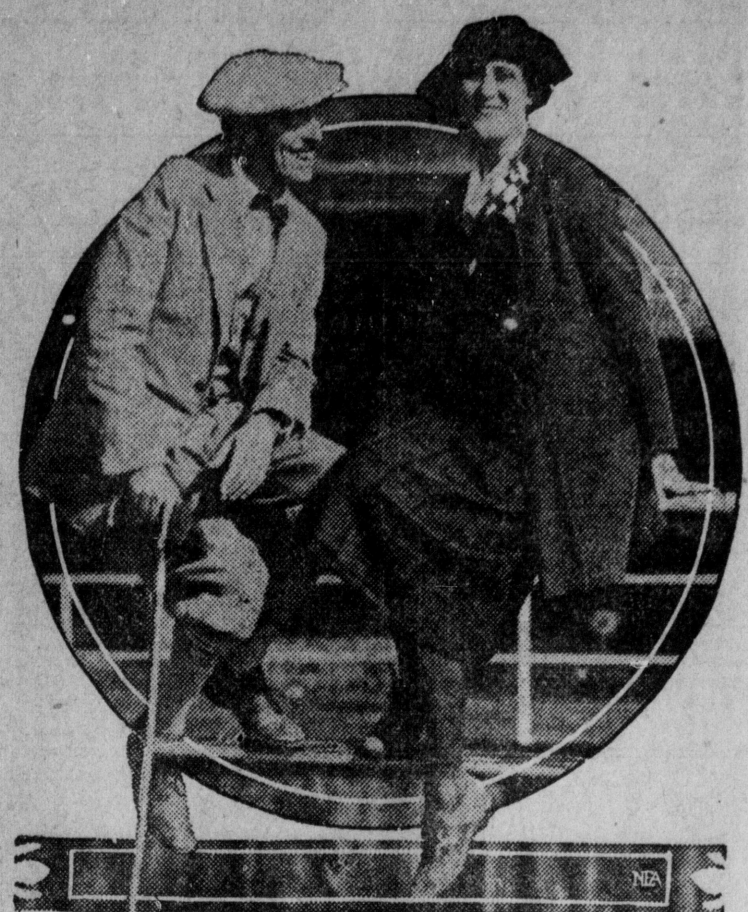

"Certainly, we never have had a program offering more fast and furious fun," Baumgartner said.

At the business session of the club, Arnold Peek was elected a member of the board of directors to succeed Fred H. Taylor, who resigned recently because of press of business.

FAMOUS WOMAN WRITER AND HER WELL-KNOWN HUSBAND

"Rita Weisman and Maurice Marks." This record may be found in hotel books all over the eastern states.

Yet Rita and Maurice have never been asked to present their marriage certificate.

That may be because Miss Weisman, the author of such well-known plays and short stories as "The Acquittal," "Moon Magic," "Footlights," and "When Falls the Colossus," is a familiar guest at the vacation resorts which they visit together.

Or it may be because Mr. Marks has gained no small reputation for himself in his advertising business.

"Don't Feel Married" At any rate, "We don't feel or look like married persons when we steal away for a week-end together," says Miss Weisman. And she adds a pious "Thank Heaven!"

She never signs the register herself, and she is not a Lucy Stoner. But her husband, knowing the advertising game, feels it would be silly to discard a trademark, "Rita Weisman," which she has built up, in favor of his name, which means less to her public. But that is not saying it will continue to mean less. Mr. Marks, in collaboration with his wife, has written a playlet, "French Farce," which is appearing in a May magazine, and is scheduled for Broadway next summer.

Rita Weisman's marriage has received much publicity, because it took place just six weeks after her magazine article, "I Am Still Single Because—" in which she explained the completeness of her life without matrimony.

But though the marriage may have seemed sudden to the public, certain of her friends had been suspecting that "Micky" Marks would change her mind.

She met him first when she came to New York, a young girl with literary ambitions. The first time he took her out, they attended a reception and sat on the steps all evening, just talking.

It seems that they have been just talking ever since. Except for a silence of some years, during which Miss Weisman studied in Europe, the friendship has been uninterrupted.

Meeting eight years later, when Miss Weisman had returned to New York, they renewed the old comradeship. The next time she went to Europe, for literary material, she found herself writing every detail of her trip to Micky.

From Sorrento she wrote him, "I'll never come here again without someone I love." "That shows how little I realized that he would be the one," she says.

But in London, when she was taken suddenly ill and called Micky to break the news to her father that she was returning to New York, she began to realize how much she depended on him. After her return, it was Micky who helped her shake off the depression of illness and get a new grip on life. A year later, on Thanksgiving day, 1924, they electrified the public—and perhaps themselves—by getting married.

Laughs Storms Away Her father, Charles Weisman, who had been her devoted friend and counsellor for many years before her marriage, lives with them in a colorful apartment on East 86th street which strongly reflects its mistress' love of beauty.

"You ask whether marriage hinders a career?" she says. "How can it, when it doubles one's joys and halves one's woes?" The masculine viewpoint is necessary to a woman writer, Miss Weisman believes. "I now have two men to give it to me. Their perspective and humor are a fine ballast for emotional femininity. You can't make tempests in teapots with two grinning men looking on."

As for the week-ends at Atlantic City and other holiday resorts, they are only a part of the romance of this marriage.

Flower and Dreams Every other day for nearly three years, Micky Marks has said it with flowers—and orchids at that. When Miss Weisman appeared with red roses instead of orchids the other day, because a florist had failed Micky, her luncheon companion could scarcely be convinced that a divorce was not in sight.

Somebody asked her recently why she had not asked Micky to spend on pearls the money he puts into orchids.

"Pearls are only a neat investment," she replied. "But orchids are of the stuff that dreams are made of. I like them because, having done their work, they vanish. You can't 'cash in' on them."

BRAZIL MAKES OFFER OF LAND TO JAPANESE

TOKIO, April 28.—The recent offer to Japan by the Brazilian government of an immense tract of land in the upper reaches of the Amazon, comprising some 12½ million acres is arousing the greatest interest in Japan.

Already there are in Brazil several strong and prosperous colonies of Japanese. The Brazilian climate, as a whole, is better suited to the Japanese than that of Manchuria, which is, at present, almost their only outlet other than Korea and Formosa, which are integral parts of the Japanese empire.

The Japanese government has left it to private enterprises to investigate the possibilities of the Brazilian offer. The Kanegafuchi Spinning company, one of the largest of its kind in Japan, at a meeting of its shareholders, has just appropriated the sum of 80,000 yen for the purpose of sending a commission to examine the territory and report upon its suitability for exploitation.

Naturally it is not likely to be the very best ground in Brazil, but it is said to be far from the worst. It is said to be covered with forests of hardwood trees, the marketing of which would pay for their clearance, after which the ground might profitably be planted with cotton and rubber, while reforestation to some extent might also prove profitable.

The opportunity offers many interesting possibilities. Those who sympathize with Japan in the restrictions placed by so many "white" nations against her emigrants welcome with hopefulness this new outlet placed at her disposal by the government of Brazil, and await with interest the report of the commission to be sent out by the public-spiritedness of the Kanegafuchi Spinning company.

F. F. King Victor In Orange Suit

ORANGE, April 29.—Judgment against E. A. Kinney, local lemon association member, to the extent of $210 was returned by Recorder G. W. Ingle when F. F. King sued Kinney for that amount in small claims court here yesterday.

Attorney A. E. Koepsel, representing King, stated that Kinney had agreed to purchase King's share in the lemon association for $300 but after having signed a note for $90 held by a local bank, Kinney had refused to continue the purchase. The law firm of Head, Rutan and Scovel, Santa Ana, defended Kinney.

Two speeders appeared before Recorder Ingle yesterday for a total fine of $20. J. A. Pierce, Santa Ana, contributed $10 of the total for speeding on West Chapman avenue. Frank A. Falls, Whittier, paid $10 for speeding.

The WOMAN'S DAY

Once upon a time the Persian poet, Omar Khayyam, wrote a single to the effect that everything would be hotsy-totsy if he had a jug of wine, a hunk of bread, and his cutie, all in the shade of the old olive tree. How little the "world do move!" Today's popular ditty walls for "A Cup of Coffee, a Sandwich, and You!" The cup of coffee is legally necessary; the sandwich indicates our inflated standard of living which refuses to gnaw the crusty loaf sans meat or butter; but the urge for one's own special sweetie remains constant.

But, Ah, the Difference! There is a difference, though! The mind was fed those 700 years ago as well as the tummy-tummy. Omar prefaced his plea for the jug of wine and the loaf with a cry for "A Book of Verses," too. Today's sweeties may display a copy of "Life" or "Zippy Stories." But poetry? Har, har, so's your old man!

The Sandwich. Have you tried these combinations. Chopped canned lobster with celery and dressing; ripe olives, sweet green pepper, and cream cheese all chopped together; chopped dates and peanuts; cream cheese, minced candied cherries, chopped nuts, and minced figs?

What Think You? "Women have learned that they do not have to put up with anything that is unpleasant to them!" Spake by a national reformer. Stories the Children Will Tell When come the children to my knee And ask me for a tale, I ponder well, what I shall tell Such beauty to regale; The boy would hear of buccaniers And pirates of the sea While she delights in fairy sprites And princes' chivalry.

Now telling tales to little folks Is difficult to do. One must beware and talk with care And keep his story true, And one must make them laugh with joy And dim their eyes with tears, For he will find the tender mind Impressed by what it hears.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NO. 22—MISTER TINGLING CAN'T BELIEVE HIS EARS

"Come right in and make yourselves at home!" said Mrs. Beaver hospitably.

"We must go and collect Mister Beaver's rent now," said Mister Tingling, completely forgot about it when I made my last trip to Ripple Creek."

"We'll have to put on our swimming clothes then, won't we?" said Nick.

"You know better than that, Nick," said the fairman landlord. "Even if we do have to go under water to get there, we can't get wet with so much magic along."

"I know, Mister Tingling," said Nick. "I was only joking."

"Well, then, let's be going," said Mister Tingling.

It wasn't more than five minutes and fifteen seconds before the Twins and the little fairman found themselves in the underground hallway of the Beaver Warren. For that's what the Beaver family called their house.

It was a big house made of sticks and mud, with a rounded roof. Inside, it was pretty dark, but glowing lamps made it look very cozy and homelike.

There were Grandma and Grandpa Beaver, sitting on splint chairs and dozing comfortably.

And there were the Beaver children playing tag with their little flat tails, all over the place.

And there was Papa Beaver whittling some sticks with his sharp teeth to get the bark off for soup.

And there was Mama Beaver cooking dinner, or supper, or whatever it is that beavers have at night.

"Come right in and make yourselves at home!" said Mrs. Beaver hospitably, when she saw them. "I was just thinking it was time you were coming around, Mister Landlord. See here, Mister Beaver, here's company! And Ma and Pa Beaver, can't you wake up long enough to bid our guests good-day? Here, children! Come and shake hands with these nice people who have come to visit us. Billy, you go and get chairs for everybody."

Really it wasn't two minutes before Mrs. Beaver had each person feeling as though he or she was the finest person on earth.

In about three minutes Mister Tingling was saying, "I came to see if there was anything I could do to fix up your house a little nicer, Mrs. Beaver."

"Oh, no! No indeed!" said Mrs. Beaver. "You don't need to do a thing for us Mr. Landlord. Our rent is so low for this beautiful place, and everything is so convenient, we couldn't think of asking you for anything."

Nancy had noticed a bad place in the wall. "I think you need new wall-paper," she said.

"Oh, no," said Mrs. Beaver. "My husband will fix that up nicely with a little glue."

"Wouldn't you like your floors painted?" asked Nick.

"Goodness, no! They would only wear off again!" said Mrs. Beaver.

"Don't you need your roof fixed,

Americans ate more ice cream in 1925 than in any previous year.

Now children play their heroes bold And live the tales they learn, He goes to sea, while patiently She waits for his return, So I must choose my words with care And shape each narrative In such a way they'll never stray From virtue while they live.

They say I tell them wondrous tales But little do they see Who drink them in, that they can spin More glorious tales for me; They little guess the hurt and joy They have the power to give To doting me, who waits to see What stories they shall live.

What stories they shall live.

What stories they shall live.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

Ovis Poli

By ARTHUR N. PACK President, The American Nature Association

Ovis Poli is neither very rare nor a great mystery. Marco Polo, the thirteenth century globe trotter, first told the world about this giant sheep of the Turkestan Mountains that Theodore and Kermit Roosevelt brought back recently, but it was not until 1840 that the animal was definitely described and named after its discoverer. Hunters sought out the haunts of the old traveler's find and many specimens were brought back for study.

In the National Museum in Washington there is an example standing nearly four feet high at the shoulder. Its great horns measure 16 inches in circumference at the base, are nearly five feet long along the curve and nearly four feet from tip to tip.

The general color of the upper parts of the adult male in summer is light ashy-brown; most or all of the face, throat, chest, underparts and legs are white. A black line runs from the nape of the neck to the withers. In winter the hair would be considerably longer and form a well-marked white ruff on the throat and chest. Viewed from the side the horns make a complete circle and a quarter.

These giant sheep live among the highest mountains and like all wild sheep are keen of sight. They are not found alone among the rocky crags, but principally on the high, rolling plateaus, where they feed up to the snow line.

Despite their life at high altitudes they are affected by the rarefied air and when running at full speed open their mouths as though in want of breath.

This condition may in part be accounted for by the great weight of the horns, which causes the animal to carry its head quite erect and give it a peculiar stiff shoulder movement when running. To ease itself of its enormous burden and to rest the muscles of its neck, Ovis Poli, when lying down, frequently rests its horns on the ground. At such times the under parts of the neck and jaw do not touch the ground by several inches.

BEAUTY CHATS

MANICURE TIPS

If you are a very busy person and have little time to spare for the routine, daily beauty treatments for hair, nails, or such things, some of these hints may help you.

Manicuring, for instance, can take up a lot of time if you haven't learned how to make short work of it. Use all the short cuts; for instance, twice a week—don't advise it often—go over the nails with an orange wood stick wrapped in a little cotton, and dipped in any of the good cuticle solvents. These remove the dead cuticle from the finger nails and bleach away stains. If you go around the edges of the nails immediately after using the solvent, with the end of your nail file, you will take the dead cuticle off clean and leave the nails smooth and nice looking.

Use cream after you have washed off the solvent, for all creams are drying, even the best of them. If you don't use a cream, the skin will be so dry it will form hang nails and you will be worse off than you were before.

You can use nail varnishes too, if you are careful and buy only the very best quality. Some of these come with a pink tint to them which is very becoming, and the good ones have, or should have, a varnish remover. The stuff must be taken off once a week and then applied fresh, otherwise it peels, turns brown and is very ugly indeed.

Personally, I do not like such artificial aids, but I know that business women have little time for beauty culture, and yet must look well at all times. Hence the value of these short cuts.

Two Sisters—Freckles and tan come from the same cause, and are not dissimilar fundamentally. In the case of tanning there is a large amount of color pigment spread evenly in the skin, and with freckles the pigment is arranged irregularly.

In either case, it is nature's method of protection against the direct rays of the sun. You will avoid some tanning and also the freckles if you shade your face when out in the sun, or by using a bit of cold cream rubbed into the skin and then some fine, pure powder.

The cream forms the base for holding the powder. This is only a suggestion for the times when you are exposed to the sun, but do not make a practise of powdering your skin at any other time in the daylight.

HOLLYWOOD! by Russell J. Birdwell

BY JACK JUNGMEYER NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 29.—Purchasing for early production Anita Loos' popular novelette, Paramount has accepted the dictum that "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." But where to find the blondes?

It seems there's a shortage of these delectable creatures in movie circles at the moment. So much so that Jesse Lasky, according to his publicity department, "is combing the entire field of female stars" for the two necessary principals.

Thus far the combing has been vain. Overtures were even made to borrow from Universal the fair Laura La Plante, than whom there is no blonder. But the Laemmle organization also seems to prefer "em—in its own yard."

Does any good Samaritan want to loan Paramount a gentleman's choice? (This writer wishes to be placed on record as preferring red-heads, even at the risk of being accounted "gent.")

Movies lure the rich as well as the poor, who hope to become rich through this Aladdin's lamp. Senor Jamie Martinez Del Rio, husband of Dolores Del Rio, and one of Mexico's wealthiest men, is working for Director Edwin Carewe as script clerk at a salary of $40 per week. This will just about keep Millionaire Del Rio in perfect, but he's learning the film business from this modest vantage point.

Many movie directors have decreased income tax returns this year by having cancelled appeared at least once during 1925 in the role of actor. Wardrobe depreciation is a legitimate deduction for the director who also rates himself an actor.

In most cases the acting was confined to insignificant and decidedly temporary parts. An exception to this practice is King Baggott, now directing for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who declares he wears out more clothes as a director than he ever did as actor.

It may comfort anxious souls who are awaiting Universal's screening of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" to be informed that "Eliza," in the person of Margarita Fisher, has again successfully negotiated the perilous ice (on the Saranac river in New York) despite the best efforts of some $60,000 worth of imported bloodhounds to overtake her.

Construction of a school house large enough to accommodate 70 pupils on the new Paramount studio lot would seem to indicate that domestic life and pursuits of a career in pictures are not so incompatible as has sometimes been broadcast. Many of the youngsters to be here enrolled are children already beginning their own careers before the camera. Hence the necessity of a school only one step from the studio stage.

One of the most interesting spectacles seen in Hollywood for some time was the burning at the Lasky ranch of a church, while 500 men and women attempted to quell the blaze.

The scene was staged at night, and forms a part of the story of "The Rainmaker." It represented a New Year's Eve celebration in a wild oil town on the border.

More than 500 people, including workers, dance-hall girls, and hangers-on were at the height of the merriment when the town's lone church was discovered in flames.

Ernest Torrence, playing the role of the banker, "Mike," Georgia Hale playing the role of dance-hall girl, and William Collier Jr., as a broken-down jockey, "Robbie the Rainmaker," led the rush of merry-makers away from the bars and dance-halls to help put out the fire in the "padre's" church.

NEWPORT BAY, OCEAN SURVEY WORK FINISHED

NEWPORT BEACH, April 29.—Work on the U. S. survey, which has been carried on here for the past several weeks under the direction of Lieut. Thomas B. Reed, of the U. S. S. Guide, will be completed today. Lieut. Reed, with the six sailors who have been assisting him in the work, will leave Newport Beach tomorrow.

The survey was in two parts. The topography, of the elevation and characteristics of the land, was completed in the survey. The second class was the hydrography, which included soundings in the bay and ocean and tests of the ocean and bay bottom formations. More than five miles of coast line were included in the survey.

The survey extended into the ocean to the place where the water was 120 feet deep. Directly off the pier at Newport Beach a channel, resembling a huge finger, approaches the pier from the east and the water is more than 120 feet deep just a few hundred feet from the end of the pier. At other places along the coast, the 120-foot depth was encountered nearly two miles from shore.

George Neill Seen In L. A. By Joe Beek

BALBOA, April 29.—George Neill, who dropped from sight some time ago, is in Southern California and intends to return to the Balboa district some day, according to Joe Beek, harbor master, who conversed with Neill in Los Angeles recently.

"Neill said that he left because of financial difficulties and that when he felt able to pay all his obligations, he planned to return," Beek stated this morning. "Neill appeared to be in good health and said that he was preparing to embark on a new business enterprise."

The former secretary of the Balboa Chamber of Commerce did not give Beek this address nor did he say what line of work he was planning to take up.

Following Neill's mysterious disappearance, reports were current that he had committed suicide.

AGRICULTURAL DATA IS GIVEN BY APPRAISER

ANAHEIM, April 29.—Oil and tourists are valuable sources of income to Orange county, but are not absolutely necessary for the prosperity of the district, declared Ray and Neblung, Anaheim, Berkeley and Neblung, Anaheim, Berkeley Land bank appraisers, who addressed members of the Anaheim Evening club at their regular luncheon meeting.

"Orange county is the sixth most prosperous agricultural county in the nation, even though it is one of the smallest counties of California," Mr. Neblung said.

"Orange county is fortunate in having a large percentage of its total area under cultivation. Last year, 44,000 acres in this county were devoted to citrus culture, providing a gross income of $16,000,000. Walnuts, with a total of 14,000 acres and a gross return of $4,000,000, were second in importance."

The speaker enumerated beans, black-eyed peas, hay, grain, sugar beets, peppers and tomatoes as other agricultural products which contributed last year a grand total of $25,000,000 in gross returns to the farmer. He predicted that the avocado and persimmon will soon take their places as major products in the county.

At the conclusion of a trip to Oklahoma and Kansas City, to take approximately five weeks, the couple will be at home to friends at 1804 East Chapman avenue.

Burn M. E. Church Mortgage Friday

ANAHEIM, April 29.—Burning of the church mortgage, which was paid off early this month, following a brief subscription campaign, will be the outstanding event of the homecoming celebration to be held by the congregation of the White Temple Methodist church Friday evening, Dr. B. S. Haywood, pastor of the church, announced this morning.

Charles Eyngbroad, who conducted the membership canvass that resulted in the full satisfaction of the church debt of $27,100, is to preside over the mortgage burning ceremonies. The paper is to be burned over a Spanish oven brought by the pastor from Mexico. All of the members of the official board of the church will assist at the rites.

Other program features will include stunts by the junior church group, the Sisterhood societies of the church, the Men's club, Sunday school, Epworth league and choir.

BEACH STREET NAME TANGLE IS REVEALED

LAGUNA BEACH, April 29.—Pioneers of Laguna Beach were so engrossed in selling the town's beauty to the outside world that little attention was paid to the duplication of street names. When a committee of the chamber of commerce undertook to number the streets, a study of the map disclosed that the legal names of the streets are so badly mixed up that it will take a special resolution of the board of supervisors to straighten the tangle. Perhaps the most striking example of confusion is that what is known to everybody as Coast boulevard, the line of the state highway, is known legally under six distinct names through the subdivided area of Laguna Beach. These are Coast boulevard, Pacific way, Riverside avenue, Pacific avenue, Electric way and Spring street. For numbering purposes, the town will be divided, because of the crescent contour of its beach front at Forest avenue. That portion of the state highway from the junction of Park Forest toward the Cliffs probably will be known as West Coast boulevard and from the same point through Arch Beach as South Coast boulevard.

That is the only thoroughfare that will have a directional name attached to it. The numbering of the town will be comparatively easy. There are three beach streets and not one touches the beach. Frank S. Browne, chairman of the committee investigating the matter, favors retaining that name for the street in Arch Beach that ends at the studio of Monterey W. Cuprien. There is a beach street that runs to the south through which pedestrians may find a way to the sands. There is a beach street at the top of the first hill leading south from town, that runs from Coast boulevard to Short street. Also, there is a beach street between Forest avenue and Foster street that passes the bus line depot.

The name Ocean is applied to four streets. Ocean View street in McKnight's Addition, Ocean street in Arch Beach running from Agate to Moss, Ocean way in Arch Beach Heights Addition and Ocean avenue, downtown, from Coast boulevard to the Canyon road, where the Community clubhouse is located.

There is a Monterey street on the Cliffs and a Monterey street in Arch Beach, from Cress to Pearl.

Aliso street runs from Park avenue to Beach in the old section of Laguna Beach, and Arch Beach Heights claims one, too.

Short street runs in front of the school house and Arch Beach Heights has a duplicate.

The street in front of the post office is Laguna avenue. There is a Laguna street in Arch Beach Heights.

Romona avenue is situated between Coast boulevard and Central avenue. There is a Romona street in Arch Beach Heights.

There is a Cliff street running from McKnight's Addition to Laguna Road, Cliff street, Arch Beach, is the first beyond Arch street.

Arch Beach has Gleneyre street and Catalina street. Where those streets go through the Laguna Terrace subdivision, they are known legally as Catalina avenue and Gleneyre avenue.

There is a Magnolia street and a Magnolia drive, both on the Cliffs.

There is a Cypress drive, on the Cliffs, and a Cypress street, Arch Beach. Both are very important streets.

There is a Hill street in the Yoch subdivision and a Hill street in the Laguna Cliffs No. 2 tract. N. Elliot West, manager of the Yoch company, has agreed to change the name of the street in the Yoch tract.

U. S. LIGHTHOUSE OFFICIAL URGES REPAIR OF JETTY AT ENTRANCE TO COUNTY HARBOR

NEWPORT BEACH, April 29.—"Citizens of Newport Beach should wake up and repair the jetty at the entrance to Newport bay," W. S. Meyers, construction superintendent of the U. S. Lighthouse department, declared yesterday.

Meyers, working from the customs house at San Francisco, was in Newport Beach inspecting the government lights on the jetty.

Meyers declares that lights on the jetty are in no immediate danger, but that they will be within a few months and he will have to recommend the removal of the signal lights. The removal of the lights from the jetty will become a government record and will cast reflection on Orange county harbor, he pointed out.

One government light has already been removed from the jetty near the shore, where the rocks have sunk and the waves wash over the breakwater at all times.

LARGE BALBOA ISLAND TRACT IS PURCHASED

BALBOA, April 29.—The purchase by Ray G. Burlingame of two blocks of unimproved land on Balboa island for subdivision purposes, was announced today.

He has taken an important part in the development of Miami Beach in Florida and proposes to put on a little boom all of his own in the Balboa section.

The consideration was not made known. The property has a frontage on the bay.

The new tract is to be known as the Venetian Place, and efforts will be made to dispose of the property to men who will erect homes of the old Venetian style on the land. Only six lots will be sold for business buildings, the others being reserved for residences.

Obstinate Cases of Hemorrhoids (Piles)

We note with satisfaction that a well-known physician in his hospital and private practice has discovered that Moore's Emerald Oil diluted with equal parts of Olive Oil will help to reduce the most obstinate case of Piles with just a few applications and stop all itching, burning, bleeding and distress.

Sufferers should get a bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil and begin the treatment at once. It is a remedy that is easily applied and the first application gives instant relief and comfort. All good druggists have it, or can get it for you on short notice.—Adv.

NEW BEACH OIL ORDINANCE IN EFFECT FRIDAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 29.—A mistake of one day means nothing to the local trustees when they wish to pass an ordinance. The trustees met last night for the final reading and adoption of two ordinances regarding the governing of city drilling within the city limits of Huntington Beach.

It was pointed out by Charles G. Boster, president of the board, that trustees had officially read the ordinances for the first time last Friday night, but that under the state law, the reading did not take effect until midnight or early Saturday morning. For that reason trustees adjourned at 10 o'clock until after 12 o'clock in order that the ordinance might go into effect tomorrow morning, when drilling restrictions are officially lifted in the new district from Seventeenth street to Twenty-third street.

A new ordinance providing for the setting of a string of surface casing at least 300 feet in every well, was read last night for the first time. The measure was taken to prevent blowouts of any wells in the newly opened section and to protect the property of others.

The meeting opened at 8 o'clock with the reading of the position. Applications for the position of city engineer were held over until May 3, when the trustees will meet again.

George Reid, secretary of the Anaheim chamber of commerce, addressed the board of trustees, asking that the city prepare a display for the California Valencia Orange Show or other features of the Huntington Beach hand for the opening day. The hand matter was taken under consideration, when C. G. Reynolds, publicity agent, reported that he was making plans with high school officials to have a display at the orange show. The display will include a clay model of the high school, with oranges, oil derricks and other features of the town included, according to Reynolds. He declared that the exhibit would feature Huntington Beach as a town of "black gold and yellow gold."

The trustees voted to appropriate enough money to pay for the material in the exhibit.

Boster then told the citizens gathered at the meeting that they might prepare for a long wait. He declared that the board of trustees had gone into the matter of the passage of the oil ordinance very thoroughly and carefully and in order not to make any mistake, it would be necessary for the board to read the ordinance for the second time after midnight.

An application of the Mutual Gasoline company for permission to lay gas pipes in certain sections of the newly opened oil field was held up until Monday night. The matter was held up for the purpose of a discussion of a mother's day program at either the park on Seventeenth street or at the municipal auditorium was taken up but no action taken. Boster also called attention to the boat landing at the end of the pier, which is now nearly completed. A report was given by O. R. Harris, chairman of the building committee, to the effect that plans were being drafted for a rest room at the end of the municipal pier.

Heavy traffic over the paved streets of the town was the next subject of discussion and intimations were given that the trustees might pass an ordinance preventing heavy traffic on all paved streets. A decision was handed down to representatives of a trucking company that the trucks would have to be taken through alleys or in driveways in the new oil field, as no permits would be granted to allow the truck loaded with pipe to be taken over curbs. A city ordinance governs the matter.

Boster stated that a plan had been formed to select committees of citizens. He pointed out that the board of trustees might pass an ordinance which might conflict with some business, but that if a committee of citizens representing that business was formed to assist the trustees, there would be little trouble.

During the talk, he referred to the originators of the plan as "we," and W. R. Wharton, another member of the board of trustees, asked who was meant by "we." Boster explained that the plea had been evolved by the city advertising agent and that he had assisted. Wharton declared that he had heard nothing about the plan previous to the meeting.

The committees suggested by Boster are 12 in number. Secretaries of the various divisions were already selected, and the committees will be selected as soon as possible, probably by the city advertising agent. Committees and their secretaries are as follows: Automotive, George W. Tubbs; banking, C. A. Mosier; construction, L. E. Overbury; fraternal, Charles C. Overbury; religious, Ray H. Overaker; farming, A. W. Morehouse; labor, O. B. Hitterdahl; merchant, B. W. K. Fisher; real estate, G. F. McKelvey; real estate, Robert M. Bradley; schools, Robert M. Harris; women's organizations, Miss Elsie Hunt. It is also planned to form other committees.

A report on the salaries of various policemen was then given by Boster. The salary of Motorcycle Officer Elmer Farnsworth, raised from $175 a month to $190 a month and trustees voted to pay him back salary on the increase. Under a city ordinance, the officer's salary is automatically raised each year for three years. Parker's salary should have increased February 17, but the action of the trustees will prevent him from loss of the scheduled raise.

Boster also declared that he had gone to Chief of Police Jack Tinsley and told him that if there were any members of the police force who were not doing their duty to discharge them. He declared that no special privileges would be given to anyone and declared that all laws and city ordinances would be strictly enforced, and added that he hoped to say many more things in the near future regarding the matter.

A recess was then declared by the trustees until 11:30 a. m., when the trustees took up several changes in the oil drilling ordinance. A change was made in the clause reading that any wooden derrick situated within 150 feet of another derrick must be equipped with a water sprinkling system. The change provides that any derrick erected in the city limits shall have a water sprinkling system. The ordinance was then adopted.

BREAK GROUND SOON FOR NEW WATER SYSTEM

LAGUNA BEACH, April 29.—Ground will be broken in Laguna Beach on Monday for the first distribution line of the permanent water system. The directors of the Laguna Beach water district last night let a contract for the laying of 10,000 feet of six-inch cast iron pipe to Fisher and McCall, of Santa Monica, who bid 37 1/2 cents a linear foot, making a total of $3750. The next highest bid was $3800, while the highest bid of the many submitted was $6000.

The line will connect with the temporary main to be laid from Corona Del Mar to McKnight's addition. It will follow Hillsdale drive to Box canyon, then High drive to Third street, to Park avenue to the school house.

WAR TO SAVE PAVEMENTS

It is our opinion that there is money to be saved for Orange county through persistent activity in guarding the highways against the damage done by overloading and speeding trucks.

We cannot say how much money can be saved per year or per month. We do believe, however, that no less than $500,000 a year was the loss sustained by the county during the period that trucks carried all the weight and all the trailers at any speed that truck owners and truck drivers cared to put on and go with. The damage bill is nowhere near $500,000 a year now, for two reasons, one that the greatest share of the highways have been re-built to sustain heavy traffic and the other is that load limits have been decreased.

There are many highways that were built at the time light pavement was heavy enough to carry the traffic then existing. These need protection against the loads of today.

We are confident that there is a lot of overloading today. Little has been done to enforce the truckload law. While our local haulers have observed the law, we are sure, Los Angeles trucking companies have been putting on road-grinding loads and have been going into and through this county with impunity.
The same thing has been going on north of Los Angeles. However, Ventura and Santa Barbara counties have awakened to the situation, and a campaign, just started, to stop travel of overloaded trucks is bringing quite a number of haulers into justice's courts. One day this week the justice of the peace at Ventura gathered in $1500 from sixteen truck owners as fines for overloading. In nearly every instance the offending owner is a Los Angeles concern. Evidently, these companies will overload as a regular practice, if they can get by with it as they evidently have been getting by with it in Ventura and Santa Barbara counties and, as we believe, they have been getting by with it in Orange county.
"It's a war to save the pavements," said an official at Ventura.

Orange county ought to enlist.

PLANS FOR HOSPITAL

It's a fact. Plans and specifications are actually being drawn for a new modern hospital for Santa Ana. That is, the present hospital is to have a new, modern, fireproof addition.

Hospital projects in Santa Ana have had hard slugging. The matter has been approached in various ways at numerous times under a variety of leaderships, but the problem of getting a new building has remained unsolved, until now.

Action has been secured, and it will not be long until a contract is let for construction. While some have visioned a large new hospital on commodious grounds, their vision seemed impossible of realization at this time. The directors have gone ahead to give to the city the best possible improvement within the company's means, and for that decision we believe they are to be congratulated. Once the addition is finished and in use, the service rendered by the new structure will be so great and so satisfactory that the decision of the directors to proceed will be looked back upon and acclaimed as a wise decision.

Maybe Florida isn't the only state which, as Roger Babson says, "Needs more dairy farms and fewer golf courses."

NEW ORLEANS SPELLERS

In spite of much evidence to the contrary, correct spelling is not a wholly lost art. New Orleans has recently been the scene of a gigantic spelling match which is not yet concluded. The game was called on account of exhausted spelling lists.

The contest began with 1200 boys and girls of the Eighth-A grades in the city schools. It narrowed down finally to four girls. One of these, in the final match, dropped out in eight minutes. A second missed her word two minutes later. The two remaining youngsters, ages 11 and 12 years, kept on spelling through nearly 300 words of two or more syllables until the spelling book and a specially prepared list of everyday words were both used up.

Then the superintendent said the match would have to be finished another day when a fresh list had been prepared.

Three cheers for the little girls! May they always spell as well as they do now, and may they inspire others to spell as well!

THE COST OF RULERS

It is reported that the German people are finding presidents far less expensive than Kaisers. President von Hindenburg's salary has been increased and he has been voted an allowance for official expense.
Yet the total amount paid to him by Germany is trivial when compared with what it cost to support Wilhelm Hohenzollern in the style he expected.

Lately this difference in upkeep of government heads has been called to general attention by the former emperor's demands for a "settlement." The Germans aren't keen about paying him huge sums of money now, and the discussion of such sums recalls to mind the costliness of monarchs.

It is a wholesome sort of reminder. Right now it may help to discourage any schemers who have been hoping to get one or another Hohenzollern back on a German throne.

Blood is thicker than water, but flows just as easily in Herrin, Ill.

SET-BACK FOR THE BUS

There comes a sudden check to the triumph of the motor bus. Indiana goes back to the trolley car.
Nearly all of the bus lines in that state have now been acquired by the interurban electric railways. The electric lines will use some of the bus lines as feeders and kill off the rest.

It may be that this victory is not altogether one of merit. The electric lines had a great investment which they wanted to protect. Nevertheless the issue would hardly be settled in this way unless the financial interests supporting the electric lines believed the old type of transportation had a future.

Neither the flexible bus line nor the fixed and dependable trolley line need kill each other off. Each has its special qualification for service, and there is plenty of room for both, to supplement each other under proper regulation.

who can sit and listen.

Radio Sets and Tractors

Oakland Tribune

Interesting figures showing the status of tractors and radio sets on the 6,448,343 farms of the country have just been made public by the United States Department of Agriculture. These figures were secured in a personal canvass by census enumerators and are as exact as census statistics can be.

The total number of receiving sets on the country's farms in 1925 were 284,053, or one out of every twenty-two farms.

The number of tractors on our farms in the same year totaled 506,745 or one out of every thirteen farms.

Considering the comparatively short time radio has been functioning as a popular pastime, the showing made is very creditable. Because of their lower prices it is estimated that during the next five years the number of rural radio sets will increase four or five fold, giving thus the dust to the slower-moving tractor. In six states radios already outnumber the latter, namely in Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Vermont.

Though the ratio the country over is one set to every 22 farms, in California it is one set to every ten farms.

Although in the five-year period ending 1925 tractors increased only a little more than 50 per cent, this rate of growth need not hold for the future. As a labor-saving, time-saving factor its great worth is steadily growing in the estimation of the tiller of the soil. And radio is likely to quicken its use. For the less time it is necessary to spend in the fields the more time will there be to tune in on the programs of the world.

Families of Convicts

San Francisco Chronicle

Denying Clara Phillips the privilege of leaving San Quentin prison to go and visit her mother is simple justice. Our prisons are filled with people who have fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, wives and children. No doubt distressing circumstances arise in the families of many convicts imprisoned for offenses less serious than that of Mrs. Phillips, who beat a woman to death with a hammer.

If Mrs. Phillips were permitted to leave prison temporarily because an emergency has arisen in her family affairs the same right would have to be accorded to every inmate. And for those who could not afford to pay the traveling expenses of accompanying guards, the state might well be asked to make an appropriation.

The prison doors cannot be swung open every time there is family trouble. It is one of the disagreeable features of penology that the innocent suffer with the guilty. In this the state is an involuntary partner to the misfortune inflicted by a lawbreaker on his or her family.

COMMUNITIES SHOULD MAKE NEW RESOLVES ON CHILD HEALTH DAY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series of three articles on Child Health day.)

May day, May 1, is the time for every community to make new resolves with respect to childhood.

If we are to play fair with those who must take up our burdens in the years to come, we owe them effective health instruction during their school days.

We owe childhood efficient health departments, safe drinking water and clean milk. Are these essentials to life properly safeguarded in your city, or are your water and milk supplies liable to be contaminated and to convey disease?

We owe childhood all the protection against communicable diseases that science offers. What is your community doing to keep abreast of the times and to make the best things in health available to your children?

The May day spirit calls upon the mothers and fathers of America to respond when their state or local representatives of Child Health day ask them to participate in its celebration. Whether it be through club or church or school, the support of every one is needed to make May day effective.

Recently 35,000 children of the fifth grade, in 31 different states, were questioned with respect to their daily habits. If their replies may be taken as indicative of what is happening all over our land, and they probably are, then it is time for us to pause and consider.

This survey indicates that the average child drinks less than a glass and a half of milk a day.
Two, and in some cases three, times this amount of milk is needed to build strong teeth and bones. One-fifth of the children surveyed stated that they drank no milk at all.

Fifty-three per cent of these children said that they got less than ten hours' sleep. On an average these children visited a dentist only once in two years; 29 per cent, although well advanced in school years, had never been vaccinated.

It is because of such conditions, and because a fifth of a million babies died in this country last year, that the reason for Child Health day exists.

The message for you to ponder over on May day is this: "Has your community given a square deal to the child in the things that count for his health and development?"

Each community should work out its own program. As a help, the American Child Health association, whose headquarters are in New York City, has published a plan-book and a festival book containing suggested programs.

The Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Board of Health of a number of states have prepared special May day programs. If your state is one of these, write for them.

A Game Two Can Play At

The Guilty Never Safe

By Daniel Webster

The deed is done. He retreats, retraces his steps to the window, passes out through it as he came in, and escapes. He has done the murder—no eye has seen him, no ear has heard him. The secret is his own and it is safe.

Ah! gentlemen, that was a dreadful mistake. Such a secret can be safe nowhere. The whole creation of God has neither nook nor corner where the guilty can bestow it and say it is safe. Not to speak of that eye which glances through all disguises and beholds everything as in the splendor of noon—such secrets of guilt are never safe from detection even by men.

True, it is, generally speaking, that "murder will out." True it is that Providence hath so ordained and doth so govern things that those who break the great law of Heaven by shedding man's blood seldom succeed in avoiding discovery. Especially in a case exciting so much attention as this, discovery must come, and will come sooner or later. A thousand eyes turn at once to explore every man, every thing, every circumstance connected with the time and place; a thousand ears catch every whisper, a thousand excited minds intently dwell on the scene, shedding all their light and ready to kindle the slightest circumstance into the blaze of discovery.

Meantime the guilty soul cannot keep its own secret. It is false to itself; or rather it feels an irresistible impulse of conscience to be true to itself. It labors under its guilty possession, and knows not what to do with it. The human heart was not made for the residence of such an inhabitant.

It finds itself preyed on by a torment which it dares not acknowledge to God nor to man. A culture is devouring it, and it can ask no sympathy or assistance, either from heaven or earth.
The secret which the murderer possesses soon comes to possess him; and, like the evil spirit of which we read, it overcomes him and leads him whithersoever it will. He feels it beating at his heart, rising to his throat, and demanding disclosure.

He thinks the whole world sees it in his face, reads it in his eyes, and almost hears its workings in the very silence of his thoughts. It has become his master. It betrays his discretion, it breaks down his courage, it conquers his prudence. When suspicions, from without, begin to embarrass him, and the net of circumstance to entangle him, the fatal secret struggles with still greater violence to burst forth. It must be confessed; it will be confessed; there is no refuge from confession but suicide, and suicide is confession.

Worth While Verse

APRIL

April is a silver bell
Hanging in a tower,
Thin as gossamer and bright,
Fragile as any flower!

When the North Wind touches it,
Notes like crystal drops Tinkle down in showers of sound
'Til the swinging stops.

When the West Wind touches it,
Notes of bursting buds
Drown the trees with frothing green Tumbling there in floods.

When the East Wind touches it,
It will not reply,
And a darkened shadow falls
From the sullen sky.

But the South Wind touching it Fills the air with notes,
Petal-flung at choirs of birds
With their singing throats.

April is a silver bell
I would like to ring—
Every year I try it once
In the early Spring!

York Times.

Confidence in Young Shown by the Record
Of Vote in '18 and '22

Forest protection and water conservation, crime prevention, a close study of taxation and action along sound and conservative lines, sound economy, the Boulder dam as a measure to be fought for by California—these are some of the subjects that are discussed frequently by Lieutenant-Governor C. C.
Young in his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor.
The candidate's views are expressed in a straight-forward manner, without hesitation and without the circumlocution sometimes found in oratory. The language he uses is used for the purpose of making himself plain, not for the purpose of endeavoring to entrance anyone.

Of all the attributes of a leader in public affairs, that of sincerity is most prized by the average voter.
And it is the marked sincerity of C.
C. Young that has carried him forward in the affairs of California until today he is in the position he is in.

Young is known as a fair, square fighter. He has courage, plenty of it. He has a clear vision of what is right and wrong, and he stands by his guns for what he thinks is right. Thus, through eighteen years of public life he has gained the respect of both his friends and those who have opposed him in any of the many issues that have come into governmental life in California.

Graduating from the University of California, which institution he attended in the early '90's—by the way, he was in the university at the same time that Attorney Horace C.
Head was an undergraduate there—Young became a school teacher, and soon after a school principal. He therefore has an intimate close-up knowledge of the school problems of the state, which is a matter of consequence for the reason that the schools spend more than half of the money raised by taxation in California.

From the schoolroom, Young entered business life at Berkeley, and was afterward elected at Berkeley as a member of the assembly. That was the beginning of his public career. Time after time his home district returned him to Sacramento.
Five times in all he was elected to the state assembly.

At Sacramento, Young became quickly known as a hard conscientious worker. He made it a point to study legislation closely. He believed that it was his business to acquaint himself with the proposals made for legislation, and hours never proved too long for him.

In 1918, Young first appeared before the people of California as a candidate. He sought the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor that year, and secured it. He was elected lieutenant governor that year, and was re-elected in 1922.
The vote given Young at those elections is significant. The increase in his majority in 1922 over 1918 is proof of the fact that California has come to know and respect Young's ability and character. In 1918 he was elected with a majority of 95,832. In 1922 his majority was 264,983.

"He is neither a gladhander nor a grandstander," said a Stockton newspaper in reviewing Young's public career. "But Young is able to draw men to him, to command their support and to get them to work with him on legislative proposals, and he has been remarkably successful in this respect."

Lieutenant Governor Young was the principal speaker at a meeting of farm leaders who gathered last Saturday at Woodland, Yolo county. At that meeting, Young discussed the Boulder dam, and also water conservation as a state-wide issue. He said:

"It has been my privilege to visit Boulder Canyon, where behind a six hundred foot dam it is proposed to create the largest man-made water storage the world has ever seen... an enterprise which will cost $150,000,000, but which will supply Los Angeles and surrounding counties with sufficient water to meet all anticipated needs. Despite the hostility of special and private interests the splendid public project seems now about to be realized.

"The northern part of the state has commenced the important task of bringing to its cities an adequate supply of water for domestic use, but it is a question as to whether it has not thus far missed the wider vision. During the past winter enough water has rushed down the rivers of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys into the bay and ocean to have supplied water for the intensive cultivation of almost every foot of the northern valleys. That water must be put to beneficial use, I am advocating no special plan. It is a question first for a determination of engineering possibilities; then for some means of financing; finally for legislation which shall remove whatever legal obstacles may stand in the way of California's welfare in accomplishing a project of such importance."

He urged a thorough and careful investigation of the whole state tax problem as "probably the most pressing duty of our state government." The burden of taxation bears heavily upon the California farmer, he declared, than on any other class of people, and with expenditures so greatly increased during the last four years, the question of reducing this burden, and still more the question of properly equalizing it so that the farmer will not continue to carry more than his just share, is among the most important of all pressing for consideration and solution.

A Party in the Country

O. Lawrence Hawthorne

Oh, a party in the country is a carnival of fun,
While a party in the city is a bore!

And the city people sigh and yawn till each ordeal is done,
But the country folks will always beg for more.

Almost every city person thinks that everybody there
Is a piker or a nuisance or a snob;
And they seldom get acquainted just because they do not care
To become a part of what they call "the mob"

In the country, folks are known for what they are and what they do,
And their neighbors learn to love them overnight.
In the country, where amusement's bright facilities are few,
Good old-fashioned comradeship still gives delight.

Yes, a party in the country is a mighty big event,
And an invitation is a queen's command.
Everybody goes—and later tells the world he's glad he went—
It was loads of fun, and my! those eats were grand!
